Antioch Twp. Gets $75,000 CBG Funds

by GLORIA DAVIS

The Antioch Twp. Board has been working on getting a Community Development Block Grant for the drainage of Felters subdivision for awhile.

According to Twp. Sup. James Fields, the $75,000 from the block grant is expected within the next 30 days.

Meanwhile, the township's engineer, Devery Engineering out of Libertyville, is working on a complete cost study for the project.

The next step will then be for the township board to take bids on the drainage project which is expected to be completed before the end of this year.

Board Juggles School Funds, Cuts Standing

by GLORIA DAVIS

At the last Grass Lake School Board meeting there were approximately 75 parents present, most of them interested in hearing the answers that the school board promised to give to the 22 questions submitted to them at a previous meeting concerning the $50,000 in staff and program cuts approved by the board for the next school year.

It seems it depended on what side of the meeting hall one sat whether or not the Board Pres. Bob Mattson, board members and Supt. Anthony Przeklasa gave satisfactory answers to the questions turned into them by Marie Brausam from lists compiled by several parents and members of the Grass Lake PTO.

The board did some financial switching to cover the more than the $50,000 needed and entered into teacher negotiations right after the meeting.

The board also approved the putting of a 50-cent tax rate raise in the education fund in referendum form on the November ballot.

Because the cuts in staff were announced a day after the teachers' union became a fact at Grass Lake, many parents and teachers find the board's intent suspicious.

Brausam, who claims to have followed proper procedure in requesting to be put on the agenda, says she was told by Mattson that he decided not to put her on the agenda. She had made the request to be able to explain her questions if need be.

Brausam said that her request was also so that the expansion on the questions would not cut into the 30 minutes allowed for audience participation.

As a result of not being allowed on the agenda, she is filing a grievance against the board for not following school policy and the superintendent for not enforcing it.

Brausam says that it is ridiculous that a board that refused to raise the lunch program by 10 cents per child a while back because "the program is too important and maybe some children couldn't afford the raise," would abolish the program entirely without even asking parents if they were willing to pay extra for it.

"One of the cuts, that of the remedial reading teacher, is an annual thing and they always reinstate her after people get excited," said Brausam who adds that she thinks that the announced cuts in staff and programs are a "scare tactic to make sure the tax referendum is passed."

But Brausam adds, "I think this is going to

Fire Department Seeks Channel Lake Arsonist

by GLORIA DAVIS

The Antioch Fire Dept. is carrying on an intensive investigation into five fires that have done thousands of dollars in damage to structures in the Channel Lake area of Antioch Twp. since March.

All the fires are suspected arson since flammable liquid substances seem to have been present at every fire scene.

The first three fires were set in abandoned buildings, the fourth in a trailer home and the fifth in a game club lodge owned by people from Chicago, some of whom had just left the building the evening before the fire.

Parthun said that the damage to the trailer was estimated at $8,000 and almost one-half of the structure belonging to the game club was destroyed.

All of the fires, except for the one that damaged the game club, flared-up during the early morning hours.

The club fire was reported at about 3 p.m. on Wednesday, May 13.

"So far no one had been hurt but now the building burned was in use," said Parthun.

The danger of firefighters being hurt answering a fire call for a building purposely set on fire also exists.

The fire department asks that anyone seeing strangers in an area, or familiar faces doing strange things, to report such incidents to the fire department immediately.

Antioch AARP Band Wins Talent Show

The Antioch AARP All-Star Band, directed by Sam Lombardo, was awarded first prize at the Lake County Senior Talent Show in Libertyville on May 2.

Individual acts performed by other members of the band also won first place blue ribbons.

The Senior Cardinals, a soft-shoe dance group, shuffled their way to a blue ribbon; Charley Youlden, a yodeler, won a blue ribbon and was also awarded a special prize for Best Performance; and the Men's Vocal Chorus, the Gallstones, won a third prize.

It was foggy and rainy that Saturday in Libertyville, but there was only bright sunshine on the bus ride back to Antioch when the happy group returned to Antioch to celebrate.

Members who participated in the talent show were Art and Lori Aerne, Evelyn Albert, Robert Allgire, Vickie Bock, John Brennan, Jim Capace, Al and Ellen Courtois, Clara Haling, Fritz Haeusl, Marcella Jesse, Irene Lingo, Phyllis Mengler, Virginia Necker, Eddie and Fanny Okoniewski, Charles Rytina, Jean Snyder, Dolly Spiering, Bill Tomasik, Sophie Trembay, Charley and Verna Yrden.

This talented group of seniors whose ages average from 60 to 87, with Sam Lombardo and Emily Novotny, years ago. In this short period of time they have become well-known throughout Lake County for its many performances in nursing homes, senior centers, VFW and other civic organizations.

What started out as just another kitchen band has resulted in the discovery of many hidden talents which are now being uncovered in the regular weekly practice sessions.

Chamber Backs Clubs' Share Food Program

The Exchange Club, a service organization, is hosting the Share Food warehouse in the Park Ave. Mall in Antioch.

But the club is not acting alone. The Antioch Chamber of Commerce, with the help of acting president Larry Hansen, has agreed to help make this a community project.

It will be helpful first of all for those needy who want to supplement their food budget, and second, the three hours returned by each participant to the community will help all community clubs, organizations, churches, and the village, as long as these groups ask for help.

With the aid of Raymond Chevy Olds and Ray Scarpelli, Sr., who has donated the Park

Ave. Mall warehouse, trucks and funds, the club is on its way to the July 25 delivery of the first Share Food units (35 to 40 pounds).

The club hopes to have all advertising out in the month of June, and publicity coordinator Claudette Skuarce will be contacting all organizations.

Vince George will be doing publicity posters and giving of his valuable time.

If, for some reason, everyone is not contacted, they may call the Club by June 1, because they need help and publicity and also need to know when and where help will be needed.

Poppy Days May 22, 23

Antioch Mayor Ray Toft has issued an official proclamation naming Friday, May 22 and Saturday, May 23 "Poppy Days" in Antioch.

Antioch American Legion members and members of the legion auxiliary will be selling red paper poppies in Antioch on those two days.

In the proclamation, the mayor says that "the memory of those who died will be held in the highest honor of the Antioch community." Many citizens of Antioch served gallantly in the defense of their country in the world wars and many of those made the ultimate sacrifice by giving their lives for the United States of America.

These are the men whose memory will be honored by those purchasing and wearing poppies on 'Poppy Days.'

Carney Takes Over As Maplethorpe Retires

by GLORIA DAVIS

Bill Carney, Antioch's first new fire chief in 21 years, is no stranger to responsibility connected with fire fighting.

Carney, 47, a native of Antioch, has been on the Antioch Fire Dept. for 26 years. He rises to take command from the office of deputy fire chief as long-time fire chief, Todd Maplethorpe retires.

"Aside from the fact that growth in the future might bring joint purchasing of expensive fire fighting equipment along with other area departments," Carney sees "no big changes to take place in the foreseeable future since Todd turned the department over to me in the best of shape."

Expansion of the fire prevention bureau is now taking place with a special emphasis on getting "everything into our computer system."

Antioch's fire department, rated one of the finest in the area, made 150 fire calls in 1986. The department now has 50 volunteers, in fact all the members are volunteer (paid $6 an hour when on calls) including the officers.

The fire department is actually made up of two factions, the part belonging to the Antioch Fire Dist. (which includes Antioch Twp.) and the part belonging to the village. Both budgets total approximately $250,000 a year.

The beautiful, comparatively new safety building off of Orchard St. that houses the firefighting and rescue squad equipment belongs both to the department, the fire district and the village.

At Carney's promotion, Dennis Volling became deputy fire chief, Wayne Parthun is the assistant fire chief and there are three captains and three lieutenants.

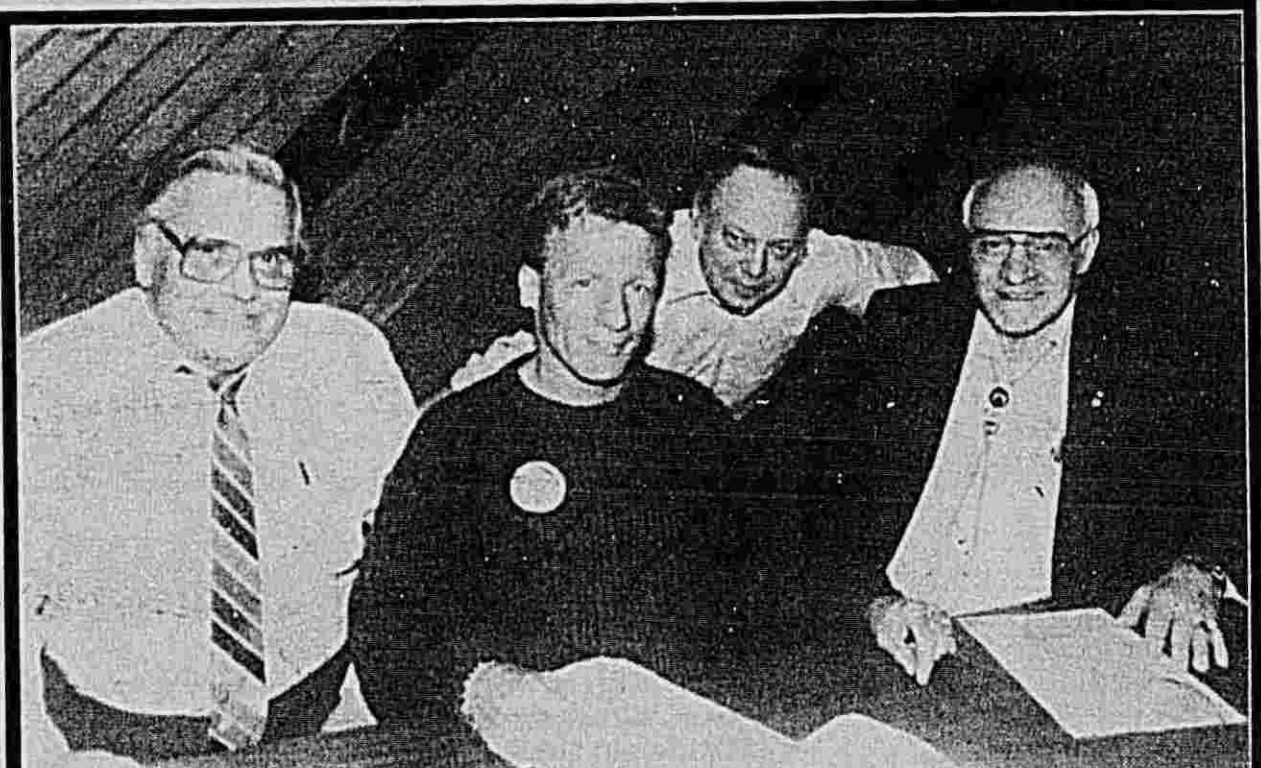

The offices are reappointed by the mayor of Antioch on an annual basis.

Carney, and his wife Garnet, who also works at the safety building, have six children between them.

Opening Was A Blast!

The groundbreaking was a blast—literally. Dignitaries and friends attending the ceremonial start of the Grand Tri-State Business Park at the corner of Grand Ave. and the Tri-State Tollway, Gurnee, were duly impressed with a dynamite blast unleashed for the earth-turning ceremony usually reserved for people with fancy shovels.

Neighbors, though, didn't view the unusual groundbreaking as "something different," as suggested by the developers. First they were frightened, and then they were angry upon realizing what happened. It was bitter irony that the houses shaken by the concussion of the blast are located on Cemetery Rd.

The business park will be a 270-acre campus style development catering to offices and light, high-tech industry. Average size business parcels will be three to five acres.

When the first buildings are ready for occupancy this fall, we suggest that developers go with a plain old fashioned ribbon cutting ceremony to celebrate the occasion rather than "something different," like sky divers or an elephant stampede. The folks on Cemetery Rd. like their peace and quiet.

Hopefully by then everyone will have forgotten that the groundbreaking was a real shocker.

'Garbage Factor' Sets 2 Major Parties Apart

by JOHN STEINKE

Exploding population of the 1950's transformed rural counties from basically cornfields and small towns into mainly suburban communities. This phenomenon occurred in Chicago's collar counties: suburban Cook, DuPage, Lake, McHenry postage stamp lot, his attitudes dramatically altered by the acquisition of a mortgage and a power lawn mower. The man escaping from the city is a man freed from party loyalties of the past, a man with a new perception on political issues.

The Conversion Theory made suburban residents ready converts to the small-town style of politics, substituting symbols of home ownership and community duty for class and sectional loyalties. Since the small-town is traditionally the harbinger of conservatism, a life-long Democrat would immediately replicate Republican mores, respectability and voting habits. The Democratic party was becoming an endangered species due to the conversion of former urban Democrats into suburban Republicans.

These two theories classified suburbanites as white, upper-or-middle-class people, who thought and voted straight Republican. This characterization was endorsed by prominent Democratic leaders. In 1952, war hero, Dwight Eisenhower defeated Democratic nominee Adlai E. Stevenson for the presidency. The Republicans won control of the White House for the first time in 20 years. Chicago Democratic boss, Jacob M. Arvey commented: "The suburbs were murder."

Ten years ago, Illinois' present state treasurer, Jerry Cosentino, observed: "There's the Garbage Factor: people don't hang in there as solid Democrats after they move to the suburbs...it's the garbage. In the city...you take the garbage and you stash it on the back porch or stick it in the alley, and you vote Democratic. You get here and you start tying up your garbage all neat in those dainty little bags and you get soft, you go a little Republican. We've just got different garbage here. I don't know what the Democratic party's going to do about that one."

Commentary

and Will. The boom also bought even larger Republican vote totals in the nation's suburbs—and predictions of doom for the Democratic party.

Whenever housing developments began sprouting, it seemed as if the local farmland was being replaced by just one thing: Republicans. The suburban stereotype represented: station wagons, PTOs, shopping malls, crabgrass and Republicans. Originally, two different but not mutually exclusive hypotheses were advanced to account for suburban Republicanism.

(1) The Transportation Theory maintains that the suburban population followed one readily predictable course: higher income and upper status families most likely to vote Republican have moved from the central cities to the suburban communities, taking their political preferences with them. Having acquired financial resources and social prestige, such families were already upper-or-middle class Republicans before they migrated to the suburbs. The new migrants were affluent, WASPish Republican wife-swappers commuting daily from their charcoal-your-own-steak suburbs into the city to reach their managerial or professional jobs.

(2) The Conversion Theory argues that the suburbanite is not just an American who has moved. He is a new American, his personality transformed by his exposures to a

Understanding Pop Permits Son Choice Of Motel Rooms

by BILL SCHROEDER

A father who says he loves his children has taken this columnist to task for lamenting that kids are going a bit far when they include a motel overnight as part of prom weekend. The doting parent found our Victorian sensibilities so grating that he scored us for being naive and censured the writer for hiding behind the "(Im)Moral Majority."

Since the writer neglected to sign his name, I'll refer to him as Wilmer Wimple. OK, Mr. Wimple, you have the floor. Lead on.

Dear Mr. Schroeder:

I am the single parent of two children, one of each sex, so I am aware of the problems in dealing with young adults graduating from high school. I have had to face the problems of experimental sex during the high school years of both children. I have tried to face the problems realistically, something that my parents did not do. My rules of behavior for both of my children have been get good grades, maintain good behavior, abstain from drugs and consume as little alcohol as possible. To their credit, both of my children have abided by those rules and have been given extensive privileges.

My son is graduating from high school this year. My daughter has already graduated. He has been having a sexual affair with his girl friend for some time. I have known about the situation and my son did not conceal the fact when I asked him. His girl friend is bright, pretty (perhaps beautiful) and an excellent student. They are intellectually competitive and seem emotionally compatible. I expect that in later years they will be good friends, perhaps occasional lovers but probably will not be wedded to each other. They are going to different universities in different fields of study at opposite ends of the country.

This brings me to the fact that I find your Editor's Viewpoint on motel rooms during prom night as "naive" instead of "old fashioned." One of the rules that my children have had to obey while they are living in my house is that I must be kept informed as to their whereabouts. That rule is for their protection. It has worked very well. During the prom weekend I would far rather know that my son is sleeping with his girlfriend in a motel room than out there somewhere, wherever "there" is.

I do not approve of the situation but I do condone it. Some time ago I discussed this quietly with the girl's parents. They were not surprised and continue to have good rapport with their daughter. They have discussed the situation with her, have taken her to a gynecologist and got her an Rx to prevent pregnancy. From time to time his girl friend's parents and I have had further discussions. We just completed one such discussion regarding the prom weekend. I have told my son and they have told their daughter that they are to find a motel room, if they must, but they are not to wander about aimlessly. In fact, if need be, either her parents or I will make the reservations. I am not stupid and fully realize that if I tried to interfere with my son's personal affairs he would exclude me completely. I much prefer to be informed of the situation. Also, in this age of drunk drivers, AIDS and Herpes Simplex II, I find it comforting to know that my son is not raising Hell in bars somewhere using false IDs for purchasing liquor and searching for a sexual encounter with some woman who will provide an immediate thrill and long term agony or death. I also do not want my son or his girl friend injured in a car crash. These are not "sad" facts. This is the reality that we live in.

Where have you been hiding? Behind the (Im)Moral Majority?

A Parent Who Loves His Children Imperfect Though They Are!

Dear Mr. Wimple:

Have you ever said "no" to your son and daughter about anything? You're right. Staying out of motel rooms on prom night doesn't make the kids perfect. It just forces them to find some other place to go after the dance. Home, perhaps? You were easy on me. Another reader called me a prude and snarled that I must have been born an old man.

NOT RETIRED—Atty. Joseph Sikes is busier than ever so our recent comment about him retiring as village attorney of Lake Zurich might have been misleading. Just no more night council meetings. Happy to correct that.

GOOD IDEA—County Building Officer Robert Streicher is urging newly elected County Board Chairman James "Jim" Fields to sponsor a personal inspection tour for County Board members, members of the judiciary and other interested officials of west Lake County zoning and building problems. Sounds like an excellent idea to this observer.

Streicher, who takes most of the heat in zoning and building flaps with the public, suggested that Fields charter a bus. "We'll have plenty to show them," added Streicher. And if there is any time left, no doubt readers can submit plenty of suggestions for stops on the inspection tour.

STATE CONFAB—State's attorneys and their families from all over Illinois will be visiting Lake County for their annual convention on July 8, 9 and 10.

State's Atty. Fred Foreman, host, reports that their first evening will be highlighted by a pontoon boat excursion on the Chain O'Lakes. About 200 visitors will be quartered at Illinois Beach State Park, Zion, for a return visit of their 1982 convention.

"Our members really like Lake County. We've got so much to do," remarked Foreman, who is state president.

The state's attorney confab will put the county's tourism bureau to the acid test.

Letter To The Editor:

Staying On Job

Editor:

Since it is not possible to adequately quantify gratitude, a simple "thank you" must go to all of the people who have contributed to CLEAR's recent success in opposing the ARF dump expansion and the Waste Management dump and incinerator petition for siting near Grayslake.

Contributions took many forms: delivering informational flyers, making phone calls, writing letters, folding and labeling newsletters, attendance at the hearings, fundraising, soliciting for signatures on petitions, and donations by individuals, businesses, villages and townships. Hundreds of people helped the Lake County Board make this decision.

Now the Lake County Joint Action Solid Waste Planning Agency will have the time to continue getting the information needed to make the decision about the county's solid waste disposal which will be in the best interests of its citizens.

The spirit and activity of CLEAR will continue as we assist in keeping important issues in the public eye. Our intention is to keep our members informed and actively involved in working with the elected officials in continuing to make wise decisions for a county progressing toward the 21st century.

Officials Turn Back On Zoning Relief Plea

by LARRY WITTNEBERT

Note: This is the fourth in a series of articles pinpointing building and zoning violations.

For two years, Joseph Rymsha has tried to find relief from a loud tree service business operating about 30 feet from his home.

First he turned to the county building and zoning department; then, on their advice, to the state attorney general. end result? zip.

Rymsha of Lake Ave. and Beach St. on the west side of Channel Lake, said that the area is zoned RR (recreational residential), but the business continues unchecked.

He said that he brought it to the attention of Bob Streicher of the building and zoning department. But when the inspector came, weather conditions were adverse and the business was quiet.

Rymsha said that there was a four-foot snow drift, it was 30 below 0 and the wind was blowing about 35 miles per hour.

The inspector said that he didn't see anything.

Several times, Rymsha said that he's told Streicher people work all hours at the business.

"If they don't finish during the day, they finish late at night," he said, adding, "it's a terrible thing hearing all that noise."

Rymsha said that a three-car garage is located on the premises, housing an electric generator for arc welding and an air-compressor.

About five trucks and two tankers also move in and out of the property, he said. In addition, he's seen log cutters and stump cutters in the area.

Rymsha said that the premises are actually a private residence that allows the business activity involving tree spraying and wood cutting.

He said that a half dozen people work on equipment there and labor includes engine and vehicle body upkeep.

He added that four or five businesses move vehicles and equipment in and out of the site, including tree services from Highland Park and Trevor, Wisconsin.

An 85-foot stockade fence was built a year to a year and a half ago, apparently trying to hide the operation, Rymsha said.

A year ago, a big pole barn was erected on the premises; the building inspector said one can be built on the property but only for recreational purposes.

Rymsha said that he's seen big loads of wood chips dumped behind the barn.

Gathering evidence, he took 15 color photographs and sent them to Streicher, but his reply was that he wanted to snap his own photos and compare them to Rymsha's. This nettled Rymsha.

Streicher also advised him to send the photos to the state attorney general which he did. The photos show the operation from all angles, Rymsha said, and even reveal vehicles on jacks.

But according to Rymsha, the attorney general never replied to his information.

Illegal Site

Trucks stand in a residential neighborhood indicating that a business is operating in the wrong zone. Residents have complained about problems with businesses in their communities and a fatal accident has occurred at one such operation.

Insurance Rates Discourage Some Medical Specialties

The sky was blue and the sun was shining. Not so the mood of my conferees as we met for our luncheon. Even Synik wasn't his usual feisty self.

"Well, fellows," I said, to start the ball rolling. "Who gets today's prize for the sharpest diagnosis or has seen the rarest illness that can teach us something? Who gets today's ego lift for being a smarty?" I got no response.

"You're a barrel of laughs today."

"There's nothing to laugh about," said Virtuos. This, from the doctor among us to whom the whole world looks rosy.

"Well, then, tell us what's to cry about?"

Medical usings

By Leo Tannenbaum, M.D.

"Today, I had a visit from a young lady I delivered 26 years ago. She became officially pregnant after I checked her and told her so."

There was a definite stir of interest. "My Lord," said Synik, "I'd find that delightful. Imagine delivering this kid! Counting her mother, that's a three-generation family. We specialists never have the kind of luck that you family doctors have."

"Five generations," said Virtuos glumly to an audience that stared at him in disbelief.

He counted on his fingers. "There's the 96-year-old great-great grandmother with the ruptured bowel. Her daughter has cholecystitis. Next, one daughter that comes for her blood pressure. A daughter, the mother of today's kid, that I delivered. Also, three brothers and sisters of the 26-year-old young lady who made my day. Oh, yes, I delivered several offspring for each of the brothers and sisters of today's patient. Don't count the fetus yet."

He waved Yungfren off. "No, I didn't deliver the 96-year-old."

"What the hell. Man, you made a career of this family. How many did you deliver?"

"I didn't know until she told me. Counting uncles and such, 30 altogether. Not a bobble, not a dead baby. But that's not all she said. She told me that delivering 30 babies didn't mean I was all that good. Just meant I was lucky. She agreed with her girlfriends that she'd go to an obstetrician and follow up with a pediatrician. It wouldn't do to take chances. When she left, I felt old, obsolete."

Fahrdrief, the obstetrician, a welcome but infrequent member of the group, had sat through this last, apparently without a quail or quiver. "Rest easy, my friend, I won't get her. As an obstetrician-gynecologist, my insurance rates were nearly $60,000 a year. By dropping OB, I've almost halved it. So I won't be getting up nights to deliver anymore. And neither should you. Spare your coronaries. Spare your worries about being sued, too."

It was as if a dam had burst. Bopal, the pediatrician, pointed out that his specialty, until recently considered "safe," had almost a 70 percent increase in malpractice premiums. He was countering by shifting newborn babies to neonatologists, the specialty that cares for babies only immediately after birth. He also called another specialty in consulting on older children if there was any doubt about the length of the illness even though it might not be unusual. He pointed out that his uncle, a noted urologist, had retired after a suit that his insurance company settled without telling him because they thought it was cheaper. While waiting and not knowing it was settled, he had a "coronary."

Synik was beginning to look like his old self. "Say, fellows, let's cheer these two up by listing chores we endure daily since the system is law-and-money oriented now." He started at once.

"Stop," we all chorused. "It's bad enough that we do this all day. Do you have to spoil lunch, too?"

Musings: There has been a decades-long doctor-bashing. Its result has been to distrust doctors. Intent was to lower costs and the doctor has been the most visible target. Doctors have been unable to cope with being called the "bad guys." If a very, very few have been culpable in the ways of humans, doctors are willing to purge them. So many rules have been set up, so much paper work needs filling, so many hired to enforce the rules that costs have risen. Care of the sick, our main concern, is being lost to distractions.

Appeal To Delay Hospital In North Chicago

by STEVE PETERSON

North Chicago officials who support the building of a hospital by Humana Inc. and the University of Health Science-Chicago Medical School (CMS) estimate that an appeal by six Lake County hospitals has set the project three to five months.

City officials have expressed anger over the filing of the appeal.

"I'm very disappointed. I think the other hospitals are playing a very selfish game," North Chicago Mayor Bobby Thompson said.

It was just three weeks ago that Thompson, in a North Chicago City Hall press conference, praised the ruling by Cook County Circuit Court Judge Albert Green dismissed the lawsuit filed by the six hospitals, upholding the certificate of need granted to CMS and Humana, Inc.

"The hospital will happen. This is for the bad for the health care of Lake County," Thompson said.

Hospitals involved in the appeal are: Victory and St. Therese; Condell Memorial, Lake Forest; Good Shepherd and Lake Barrington.

Bob Byrne, chairman of a citizens committee to bring a tertiary care facility to North Chicago, reaffirmed his believe that the North Chicago hospital will be built.

"What is really said is that there are a number of people in connection with the six hospitals who really do not want to appeal this. They realize it is simply ridiculous to deny Lake County residents high tech medical care in Lake County. Those who are appealing are moving ahead with their own building programs and this makes it all the more outrageous. The boards of directors of the hospitals have obviously not thought through their decision," Byrne said.

"The final thing is the hospital will get built. The community is very, very upset," Byrne said.

When announcing the plans for the hospital, Thompson said the economic impact on North Chicago could be 700 permanent jobs and 700 construction jobs. The hospital would bring $240,000 in property tax revenue to the city, officials have estimated.

After the original Cook County court ruling, Byrne had asked the other hospitals in the county to join efforts in "networking" to see that the hospital gets built.

No Long-Distance Company Has The 'Lowest' Rates

It still pays to shop for your long-distance phone service, but the discrepancies between the major carriers have decreased. In a comparison of the six nationally available long-distance phone carriers, the Meyers Report found that no one company has the lowest rates. The best company for you depends on where you live and where you call most frequently.

"Differences in price between the major companies are narrowing fast, as equal access to long distance service widens," said Pamela Gilbert, staff attorney for lowest was only 36 cents or about five percent.

The same 20-minute phone call made after 11 p.m. or on a weekend averaged $3.09—less than half the weekday rate. However, Western Union, lowest during the day, is, at $3.56, the most expensive during discount times. MCI was the least expensive, at $2.91. AT&T and Sprint were within 14 cents of MCI.

Comparable rates are not the only way long distance carriers resemble one another:

—Incremental billing. All six national companies charge customers in 60-second increments. That means that a phone call lasting one minute and one second is charged as two minutes. According to several industry sources, all of the national companies have the technology to charge in six-second increments—as some regional companies do—but don't want to, since it will cut down their revenues.

"Charging customers by the minute when you have the capacity to charge in six-second increments is nothing short of fraud," said Steve Bader, president of TMC Long Distance of San Diego, which charges in six-second increments. The California Public Utilities Commission is investigating whether it should require the long-distance companies in its state to charge in six-second increments.

—Call buffers. A call buffer means that billing for a call begins after you have been on the line for a certain "buffer period," usually 36 seconds—even if there is no connection or a busy signal.

MCI and Sprint use this method in some locations. However, both companies give consumers rebates for any one-minute phone calls if they're contested. A lawsuit has been filed in New York, challenging the legality of call buffers.

Recent technology, labeled "answer supervision," allows companies to detect connections 13 different ways, rather than "estimating" them with buffer periods.

—Volume discounts. Every company offers a discount program for its targeted customer base. MCI, US Sprint, ITT, Allnet and Western Union all offer discounts based on dollar volume. The higher your bill, the larger the discount.

For instance, Allnet, which has targeted residential customers, gives a two to three percent discount on bills between $20 and $74.99 (Its customers in 10 Midwestern and Southern states receive an additional two percent discount on their entire bills.)

MCI, US Sprint, and ITT have similar programs, with discounts ranging between one and five percent. If your calling volume is higher, so is your discount. Volumes are generally broken into three dollar volume tiers, with the first tier similar to Allnet's.

Western Union wants business clients, and so its discounts begin at $500 in usage.

Perhaps the most innovative of the discount programs is AT&T's "Reach Out, America." This residential WATS line allows customers to use 60 minutes of long-distance time for $9.50. Additional time is charged at $7.55 per hour, prorated. Calls are restricted to AT&T's night schedule, 10 p.m. to 8 a.m., and weekends. If you subscribe to the program, you receive an additional 15 percent discount from rates for "evening hours"—5 to 10 p.m.

However, AT&T's plan is not for everybody. People on the west coast would have difficulty making midweek calls to their friends and relatives on the east coast—10 p.m. in California is 1 a.m. in Connecticut.

To qualify for AT&T's plan, customers must use at least one hour of long distance service each month.

When shopping for long-distance service, ask each company whether it uses the call-buffer or answer-supervision method of billing, in what increments it bills, whether it charges more for the initial minute, and whether its discounts apply to the places you call most frequently.

Your local phone company will charge you $5 to $10 to switch long-distance services, but many of the long distance carriers will pick up this charge.

When long-distance alternatives first appeared, discounts of 35 percent to 50 percent off AT&T's rates were not unusual. But AT&T no longer has the highest rates.

For the six surveyed companies—AT&T, MCI, US Sprint, Allnet and Western Union—the average cost of a 20-minute weekday phone call from New York City to Los Angeles was $6.35.

Western Union, at $6.12, registered the lowest price. The highest price was AT&T's $6.48. The difference between the highest and

Shared Office Space Idea's Time Has Come

"Suite 350," the shared-offices complex in Dolan Associates' Bannockburn Executive Plaza, has become a veritable greenhouse for nurturing start-up businesses, according to Darlene Hauelsen, vice-president and general manager of Bannockburn Executive Offices.

She cites the experiences of Concord Associates and Randall Metals as two recent examples.

Concord Associates, whose founders; Reid Leboza, Dominic Schilt, Joe Fitzgerald and Thomas Altergott; literally founded the computer software consulting business on a dining room table, moved into a 10-by-12 foot office in Suite 350 in February, 1986.

Shortly thereafter, the firm took a second office as a computer room, then added a large inside space. After a merger, the company needed still more space and decided to move to regular office space.

As the result of a lease just signed by Leboza, Concord Associates will move in May into 1,250 square feet of space it has leased outside Suite 350 in Bannockburn Executive Plaza. The company will continue to use Suite 350 for phone answering and secretarial support services.

Laurens Leffingwell, president, founded Randall Metals, a steel distribution company, in his home in February 1986 and moved into the smallest office in Suite 350 in April 1986 as one of Hauelsen's first tenants.

Soon Leffingwell added a person and moved to a 10-by-12 foot office. Now Randall Metals, a seven-person company, is situated in Suite 350's largest inside space - about 22-by-30 feet - and is considering adding two more offices.

Hauelsen, who formed the Bannockburn Executive Offices partnership with Harry L. Dolan, president of Dolan Associates, after operating a secretarial and phone answering service from her home, says the shared-offices concept definitely is an idea whose time has come.

"We serve a wide diversity of high-quality tenants," she said, "including eight who were involved in start-up companies or new Illinois offices; three who previously had offices in their homes; and others who had offices elsewhere."

Developer Harry Dolan is a Lincolnshire resident who long had appreciated the prestige of the Bannockburn office location before building the 130,000 square foot Bannockburn Executive Plaza as the first speculative office building in the area in 1978. He says most Suite 350 tenants are local residents who want to work near home.

"The majority of our tenants are from Lake County; three each from Lake Forest and Lincolnshire, two from Highland Park, and one each from Antioch, Bannockburn, Deerfield, Lake Bluff, Libertyville and Riverwoods. Cook County tenants are from Lincolnwood and Wheeling. One man commutes daily between his Suite 350 and his home, an hour away via I-94 in Brookfield, Wis.," Dolan said.

The shared-offices concept provides individuals or small firms with all the support facilities of a major corporate office - luxurious reception area, conference and class rooms, a fully trained secretarial staff and a kitchen with a "bottomless" coffee pot. Copiers, word processors, VCRs, and all other office equipment are provided as well as modern, furnished offices.

The furnished private offices in Suite 350, with all services, range from $350 per month for a 6-by-10 foot office to $1,395 for a 16-by-16 foot office.

"Tenants get a prestigious Bannockburn address and all the amenities of Bannockburn Executive Plaza, including the full-service Fig Leaf restaurant in a three-story atrium garden, a travel agency and an adjoining health/racquetball/fitness club called Courts on 22," Hauelsen concluded.

For more information, contact Hauelsen at (312) 945-0200 or Dolan at (312) 945-6600.

Church Breaks Ground

What started as a church in the gymnasium at Warren Twp. High School will soon have its own facility on Hunt Club Rd.

Village Church of Gurnee officials Sunday broke ground for a 13,000 square foot "Family Life Center".

"We intend to serve the community through a variety of events," pastor Tom Habegger said.

The upper level of the building will include a multi-purpose room with seating capacity for 400 people. Moveable seating will be featured in this area.

A nursery and a classroom area for children and youth will be housed at the lower level.

The total cost of the first phase in the building project is estimated at $750,000 with completion scheduled for late this year. The building will be on a seven-acre tract of land. Habegger said the parcel next to the future church property is still on the market as far as he knows.

Village Church of Gurnee was "planted" in Gurnee on Easter Sunday, 1983 by Lakeview Church of Zion. Both congregations are members of the Missionary Church, Inc., a Protestant, evangelical denomination with approximately 400 churches across the United States and Canada. The church began holding services in the WTHS gym and later at the King's Academy (formerly Whittier School) in Waukegan as they await construction of their facility.

93.5-Acre Site Going Onto Block

A 93.5-acre site in Fox Lake will be auctioned off Thursday, May 28, and Fox Lake Mayor William Dam said that he expects several bidders.

Located at Rts. 12 and 134, the land carries no minimum bid, but a suggested opening bid of $175,000.

The gently rolling, heavily-wooded site is owned by Duck Lake Properties of Deerfield, a limited partnership.

The Sheldon Good Co. auction will take place at 7:30 p.m. at the Hyatt-Regency O'Hare, 9300 W. Bryn Mawr, in Rosemont, Ill.

Scott Ellman, auction coordinator, said that while the site owners feel the land is prime property, they want to sell it as quickly as possible. "They can't hold it six to nine months," he said, adding that they are not multi-family developers.

According to the auction brochure, the site is zoned for a variety of multi-family units, including townhomes, condominiums and coach houses. Zoning also allows commercial development along Rts. 12 and 134, it notes.

Ellman said that the owners helped secure annexation as well as zoning, adding that their actions

"really increased the value."

Ellman, in his remarks, spoke for Real Estate Auctions, Inc., a subsidiary of Sheldon Good & Co. Auctions is headed by Gordon Greene, president.

The site itself is not being sold for distress reasons such as back taxes or foreclosure, Ellman said. The brochure states that the lot size measures 978 feet of frontage on U.S. Rt. 12 and 706 feet of frontage on Illinois State Rt. 134.

It also notes that the land is ideally suited for a planned unit development. In description, the booklet notes that the property features 300 feet of frontage on spring-fed Duck Lake.

Ellman said that Duck Lake is one of the cleanest in the Chain O' Lakes.

Dam, meanwhile, noted that the village would consider backing industrial or housing revenue bonds for a quality subdivision.

But he added that the village hopes primarily the development would be single-family. In addition, he said that the village is willing to rezone about six more acres commercial along Rt. 12.

Meanwhile, the brochure notes that the owners will finance the sale with 30 percent cash downpayment at closing, the balance at 10 percent per annum, payable monthly, interest only, coming due two years from closing.

A $17,500 certified or cashier's check is required to bid.

The brochure also notes that the site offers easy access to recreational, educational, shopping and health care facilities, and Fox Lake is 30 miles northwest of Chicago.

The auction, meanwhile, will sell more than $30 million worth of real estate in the metropolitan Chicago area.

Said Steven L. Good, vice president of Sheldon Good & Co.: "We use the auction technique to sell quality real estate for quality companies allowing owners to participate in lower marketing and advertising costs resulting in quicker sales."

Decorative glass bifold doors are easy to install and increase the value of a home. This particular design is the Beacon Hill from Wing Industries.

Fireplace Adds Value

A study found that a fireplace is the number one feature wanted by home-buying consumers. Over 80 percent of the buyers surveyed ranked a fireplace as the most important feature to be found in their new home.

If a home doesn't have a fireplace, a pre-fabricated one can be installed. This can increase the beauty and enjoyment of the home, as well as increase its value when it comes time to sell. Experts consider the addition of a fireplace a very good investment, and project that the short-term recovery of the investment is likely to be up to 125 percent.

A pre-fabricated (factory-built) fireplace requires no masonry work, so if a homeowner is reasonably handy and has basic carpentry tools, the fire place can be self-installed.

Probably the most complicated part of installation is the planning stage, such as choosing a location. Because "zero clearance" prefabs are self-insulating, they can be safely installed on or against just about any flat, hard surface. So decide whether the fireplace will be on an inside or outside wall, in the corner or as a room divider.

The most popular spot for a fireplace these days is in the family room, but other favorite spots include the living room, kitchen or even the bedroom. The Wood Heating Alliance, an industry trade association, suggests drawing a rough sketch of the room where the fireplace will be installed. Consider that the fireplace will most likely be the focal point of the room; and a gathering spot for family and friends. Also consider that today's energy-efficient, heat-circulating fireplaces offer the best heating performance when placed in areas that have open access to other rooms or hallways.

2 Blocs Eyeing Gains In Surprise Chairman

by JOHN STEINKE
(Political Columnist)

On May 4, Dist. 4 Rep. Jim Fields of Antioch was elected Lake County Board Chairman in a marathon 25-hour, 139-ballot session. Fields' election was necessitated when Dist. 3 Rep. Jim LaBelle of Zion resigned the chairmanship to become a full-time assistant to Gov. James Thompson. LaBelle remains a regular county board member.

than an extra vote in Lake County Sheriff Robert H. "Mickey" Babcox's hip pocket.

Polarization, compromise, and Fields' non-leadership qualities contributed to his surprising victory. The board has been practicing confrontational politics between the Republican regulars and the independent Republican-Democratic bloc. This division among the 24-member county board explains why neither group could elect their own candidate for the chairmanship. The party

The GOP regulars include Dist. 1 Reps. Deloris Axelrod of Highland Park, Donald Strenger and Richard Price, both of Lake Forest; Dist. 3 Reps. Jim LaBelle, Robert Neal of Wadsworth and Eleanor Rostron of Waukegan; Dist. 4 Reps. Jim Fields, Charlotte "Char" Kiesgen of Fox Lake and Fred Popp of Lake Villa; Dist. 5 Reps. Andrea Moore and James Dolan, both of Libertyville; and Dist. 6 Rep. Gerald Beyer of Wauconda.

The Independent Republican-Democratic bloc include Dist. 1 Rep. Helen Belmont Amendola of Highland Park, Dist. 2 Reps. Audrey Nixon, Matt Miholic, John Balen, and Tony Serdar, both of Waukegan; Dist. 3 Rep. Sam Payne of Zion; Dist. 4 Rep. Norm Geary of Grayslake; Dist. 5 Reps. Mike Graham and Carol Calabrese, both of Libertyville; and Dist. 6 Reps. Richard Anderson of North Barrington, Bruce Hansen of Lake Zurich and John Reindl of rural Mundelein. The four Democrats are Balen, Nixon, Serdar and Payne.

After 138 ballots, both sides conceded the necessity of compromise. Fields was the logical choice for the brokered chairmanship. The party regulars are confident that Fields will retain his loyalty to them. On the other hand, the Independent Republican-

Democratic group perceives Fields as a weak personality who will capitulate to their demands. Fields was unanimously elected chairman on the 139th ballot.

In addition, the Independent Republican-Democratic coalition supported Fields' selection because he promised to create a Committee on Committees. It will determine regular board committee assignments. The Committee on Committees will be comprised of three representatives each from both factions on the board.

The Republican regulars assigned to the committee include Dolan and Beyer. The Independent Republican-Democratic bloc's representation include Amendola, Nixon and Geary. Chairman Fields will be empowered to break any tie votes on the committee.

Will Chairman Fields be able to preserve the County Board's fragile consensus during the next 18 months? How will Fields respond to these two fundamental questions? Will he permit a major realignment of important committee assignments currently controlled by the party regulars?

In the next year-and-a-half, Fields may learn the wisdom of President John F. Kennedy's observations: "Policy is always a choice between two blunders."

Steinke On Politics

His election was the most startling occurrence in Lake County political history. For the past seven years, Fields has been one of the most undistinguished figures on the county board. He has been a backbencher among his colleagues. Fields has been little more regulars supported Dist. 5 Rep. Andrea Moore of Libertyville while the Independent Republicans endorsed Dist. 2 Rep. Matt Miholic of Lake Bluff. The four Democrats balloted for Dist. 2 Rep. Audrey Nixon of North Chicago.

Bill Supports Counsel For Contempt Charges

Indigent persons facing possible incarceration on contempt charges would be represented by a public defender, guaranteeing their constitutional right to counsel, under a bill sponsored by State Rep. Robert Churchill (R-Lake Villa).

"Currently, Illinois law contains no provision for a right to appointed counsel in contempt cases," Churchill said. "Public defenders may act as counsel for indigents who are held in custody or are charged with the commission of a crime, but only at the direction of the presiding judge. My bill would require courts to appoint public defenders to represent indigents who could be jailed because of civil or criminal contempt proceedings."

Churchill said he introduced House Bill 1502 to expand public defenders' duties in response to action taken by the State Supreme Court. Recently, Chief Judge Alexander Bower of the Thirteenth Judicial Court—comprised of Bureau, Grundy and LaSalle Counties—issued an administrative order directing judges in that circuit to appoint public defenders in contempt cases. Churchill said a public defender challenged that order, and the Illinois Supreme court ruled that a chief judge of a judicial circuit could not enlarge a public defender's duties beyond that specifically provided for the legislature.

The House is scheduled to consider HB 1502 by Friday, May 22. All House bills must be acted on by this date.

State Seeks Centenarians

The Illinois Dept. on Aging, in cooperation with the Governor's Office of Senior Involvement, is seeking to honor persons in Illinois who are 100 or more years old. Teenage Drinking Rears It's Ugly Head Again

by GLORIA DAVIS

I see where students from the University of Wisconsin up in Madison are waging a battle to get Wisconsin's drinking age turned back to 19 again.

A spokesperson for the students was talking on a local radio station last week, claiming that since people over the age of 18 are treated like adults in every other way, "it is a violation of their civil rights" to ban them from drinking until they are 21.

She also said that "every time I read about a drunken driver in the paper they are 30 or 40 years old."

She added that the drinking-driving tentionally. Anyone who deliberately gets into a car and drives after drinking too much gives implied consent to the possibility of harming someone else as far as I am concerned.

Her statement of the law's inability to stop college students from drinking illegally is a sad testation to the American student if they willingly will break a law they just don't like or believe in.

This group must include students studying the "law" they are about to devote their lives to upholding.

If as she claims, "the law is unenforceable" then explain why the number of situation would be handled much better if drinking in a "controlled" environment was allowed "where a bartender can stop serving liquor to someone who has had too much," this compared to "drinking in cars, etc."

"You are not going to stop college kids from drinking," she added saying they should be allowed to do so legally.

This young lady is a student in one of our institutions of higher learning. I would have expected her to do her homework a bit better before waving her banner in public.

She obviously was not around southeastern Wisconsin and northern Illinois just after 1980 when Illinois raised its drinking age. An action that sent thousands of kids to drink over the border in Wisconsin to the terror of area residents who were afraid to travel local roads late on weekend nights because of the number of drunken drivers (most of them between 18 and 20 years of age) weaving all over the roads.

She spouts the tavern league's old song, "you can't blame an entire segment of society for the sins of a few."

Does anyone doubt why the tavern league is backing the students in this push? Look at the statistics on tavern closings since the 21-year-old law came into effect!

When one segment of society is repeatedly a danger, not only to themselves, but to the rest of society, yes you can blame them!

Ask any insurance agent about one of the main reasons car insurance rates are so high for this age group!

How can one argue with statistics from the motor vehicle departments that testify to the fact that nationally almost one-third of drivers in the age group she is talking about were involved in accidents caused by drinking before the age raise!

Certainly people of other age groups drink and drive, but no other drinking-drivers repeatedly fall into a compact three-year age group like those between 18 and 21.

Laws were instituted to protect society from people that do its members harm in-

DUI accidents has dropped considerably everywhere that a 21-year-old drinking age has been mandated.

She also said, "you seldom hear about a 16 or 17-year old drinking and driving. Would that it were so! Ask the parents of those four Illinois kids, ranging in age from 15 to 17, that were killed a couple of weeks ago in a DUI accident if 16-year olds drink and drive.

Getting back to the old, old enough to fight, buy a car, keep a job, get married, cliches, if one-third of all teens that buy a car, renigged on paying for it, I guarantee car dealers would soon stop selling to that age group without an adult co-signer.

And if one-third of the 19 and 20-year-olds that serve in the armed forces continually broke the rules, I bet Uncle Sam would soon stop needing them!

Finally, I wish this young lady had been with me in the early 1980's when college students from all states could drink legally in Wisconsin. She might have learned something during those tear-filled nights filled with flashing lights and wailing sirens, nights when I returned home sick to my stomach after taking pictures of fatal accidents that gave one five-mile stretch of Rte. 83 the nickname of slaughter alley.

These dead kids had been drinking in the controled environment of one of the many teen bars that popped up along the border to draw Illinois teens as well as those from Wisconsin.

Face it dear, most bartenders do not watch their customers like a hawk especially on a busy weekend night. As any policeman can tell you, many drivers who fail a breathalyzer test are not weaving, loud-mouthed falling down drunks. Bartenders can not be expected to be the guardians of their customers.

I'm sure there are much more worthwhile causes smart college students can crusade for. Try it and have a diet coke, it even tastes better and so does life when you're sober!

School Board

backfire. Because of the board's actions, too many people are afraid to put more money into the board's hands when they cannot get any action or answers, so the referendum could fail."

Liz Schmehl felt that the board answered some of the questions directly, evaded some and tabled others.

Schmehl asks why the board didn't employ the financial switch instead of making the cuts in the first place.

Don Fechtner who has run for the school board and long been an active parent, called Mattson's answers, "evasive."

Because he felt that board member Paul Kitto had forced Mattson into meeting with the teachers union (which has filed unfair labor practice grievances against the board because of staff cuts), Fechtner says, "For once Mattson didn't get to use his iron fist."

On the other hand, Supt. Przeklasa said he felt the Mattson had "thoroughly responded to the peoples' questions," adding, "They were the type one could go on answering forever."

The superintendent explained that, if the 50-cent tax rate increase is approved, the actual rate will only go up 2.47 because the rate went down from 2.19 to 2.09 this year, the board asked for less torque immunity money, less life safety fees, and because of bonds maturing and about to mature.

"A lot of these financial moves have to wait until the end of the fiscal year on July 1, that's why they were not made before," says the superintendent. He adds that even with the switching and the tax rate increase, there still could be financial problems at Grass Lake.

Meanwhile, the grievance filed by the teachers' union remains and so do the cuts, but the board is in the process of negotiating next year's teachers' contracts with the union and the staff cuts bode to be part of those negotiations.

Tent Caterpillar Feasts On Leaves Of Crabapple

Remember the caterpillars that made silk tents in the twig crotches and ate the leaves of the crabapple tree last spring?

These insects, the eastern tent caterpillar, have hatched and may be feeding on the trees, says Lake County Cooperative Extension Adviser Bob Schmerbauch.

This is one of the first insects to hatch in the spring, closely following bud breaks on the host tree. They prefer crabapple, hawthorn, wild cherry and apple, although they also feed on several other trees. The young caterpillars gather at a branch fork or crotch and spin a white silk tent about one inch in diameter. They stay inside of this tent at night and during rainy weather.

During the day, the caterpillars crawl out onto the branches, spinning out a single strand of silk as they move away from the tent. Before nightfall, after feeding on the leaves during the day, they retrace their steps along the silk strand back to their nest.

As the caterpillars grow, they enlarge their silken tent. They develop a white stripe down the back bordered with rows of blue spots and yellow lines. The caterpillars usually leave the nest in late May to spin silken cocoons underneath debris or in other protected areas. The adult moths emerge in June.

After mating, the females lay their eggs on small twigs; they are laid in a dark brown mass that circles the twig. Each egg mass is about three-quarters of an inch long, and contains 150-350 eggs. The eggs do not hatch until the following spring.

Control of these insects can be accomplished by several methods. Particularly on small trees, such as crabapple, the silken tents can be removed at night when the caterpillars are inside. The trees can be sprayed with Bacillus thuringiensis, which is sold as Dipel, Thuricide and Sok-Bt to kill the larvae as they feed on the leaves.

Heavy infestations can be eliminated for next year by destroying egg masses between July and April.

Preventive Steps Put Stop To Garden Weeds

Weeds!

The average homeowner wastes precious hours every week during the growing season pulling unwanted weeds out of vegetable and flower beds.

Yanking them out is back-breaking work and strictly a temporary solution—weeds either reseed or grow back from established roots, and often come in twice as thick as before.

A little preventive maintenance early in the season can save hours of labor later on. The trick is to get the jump on weeds before they get established.

When preparing garden beds prior to planting, till the soil deeply—eight to 12 inches—to bury weed seeds and roots of perennial weeds. Deep cultivation has the added benefit of loosening and aerating the soil.

Before setting out seedlings, sprinkle on a weed preventer and work it into the top few inches of soil. The ideal time to use a weed preventer is in early spring, before weeds have begun to emerge.

If the soil has been properly prepared, and early competition from weeds has been eliminated, well-fertilized vegetable and flower plants need minimal space to thrive.

Estimate the ultimate spread of mature plants and space seedlings close enough in the garden so that they will eventually fill in thickly.

Any weeds that may sprout later in the season will be crowded out by the established plants.

After setting out seedlings, a good deep layer of mulch will help retain soil moisture and give a neat finishing touch. Pine bark or wood chips make an excellent and attractive mulch.

An edging of bricks or other material around beds and borders will keep mulch from flowing onto adjoining lawns or walkways, and provide a guide for the lawnmower.

Spring Flower Walk

The Illinois Dunesland Preservation Society will host a "Spring Flower Walk" on Saturday, May 16, through Illinois Beach State Park in Zion. The walk will start at the Nature Center at 10 a.m. A luncheon will follow at noon at Illinois Beach Resort and Conference Center in the park. Naturalist Sue Wright will present an overview of the nature area with slides of flowers seen throughout summer. Cost for the luncheon is $6, and reservations are necessary. Organic Gardening Success Lies In Basic Principles

Organic gardening, without the use of chemicals to control weeds, diseases and insects, grows more popular with many home gardeners each year.

Chances of success with organic gardening can be increased if some established gardening practices are followed, says James A. Fizzell, extension horticulturist at the University of Illinois Cooperative Extension Service in Cook County.

As a starter, choose varieties that can be grown with little or no danger of damage from disease or insect pests.

Radishes, lettuce, onions, leeks, chives, beets, chard, mustard, Chinese cabbage, parsnips, salsify, peas, spinach, sweet potatoes, turnips and most herbs fill this bill and can be grown with great success.

If interested in using biological methods to control insects, such as a spray of Bacillus thuringiensis, green beans, cabbage, kale, collards, brussel sprouts, broccoli and cauliflower can be added to the garden roster.

Tomatoes, the most popular garden item with home gardeners, can be grown if hornworm are hand-picked and shoots harboring aphids are snipped off. Stake, cage or mulch the plants to prevent the fruit from coming into contact with the ground.

Sweet corn can also be grown successfully in Illinois without the aid of chemicals if timing is given attention, Fizzell says. Plant after the first week of May, but before the end of the month. Corn planted during this period will generally silk after June 15 and before mid-July, a period during which there is little risk of serious earworm infestation.

Most organic gardeners will run into trouble if they attempt to grow vine crops such as cucumber, muskmelon, pumpkin, squash and egg plant. These crops are attacked by insects that can be controlled only by chemicals.

Follow these steps to help further assure gardening success:

1. Interplant varieties but maintain adequate spacing for good air movement.

2. Avoid spreading diseases. Don't water in the evening or walk through the garden when it's damp.

3. Use fresh, commercial seed that is grown under disease-free conditions.

4. Keep weeds and grass out by shallow hoeing or mulching. Weeds compete for fertility, water and space, and harbor insects and diseases.

5. To avoid soil compaction, don't work the soil when it's wet.

6. Use compost, manure, steamed bone meal, rock phosphate, and muriate of potash or wood ashes to provide adequate nutrients for the garden plants.

7. Plant at the proper time.

8. Use stakes, cages or other training methods to support plants whenever feasible.

State Lodge Receives Flood Repair Funding

Repair work to the floor of the Illinois Beach State Park lodge took another step forward this week as $30,000 in state funds were released for repair-related architectural and engineering fees, according to State Rep. Robert Churchill (R-Lake Villa).

"During the heavy flooding our area experienced last year, the floor of the Beach State Park lodge took a real beating," Churchill said. "It has been estimated that repair costs will be about $200,000, and the $30,000 released this week will help get the project underway."

Churchill said last year's extensive flooding caused the basement floor of the lodge to buckle, in addition to forcing many area residents form their homes in search of drier shelter.

CLC Netters To Make Return Trip To National Tourney

The College of Lake County's tennis team repeated its performance of a year ago, placing second in the Region IV tournament, earning them a return trip to Tyler, Texas for the national junior college tournament May 23-30.

The College of DuPage repeated as region champs, obtaining 30 team points in the two-team event. Lake County compiled 22 points while Harper had 18.

The biggest surprise for CLC was the play of No. 1 singles player Craig Schaper. Schaper entered the tournament as an unseeded player, but when it was all said and done, found himself taking home a first place medal. Schaper defeated Oakton's Mike Haber to reach the finals 3-6, 7-5 and 6-1.

The turning point in the tournament, according to coach Lance Laverty, came when the No. 3 doubles team of Chris Kendra-Dave Sitz defeated their Wright opponents. "Last year we couldn't do anything but hope for another team to lose. When Kendra-Sitz won, this enabled us to control our own destiny," Laverty said.

At No. 3 singles, Mark Nordby was beaten by DuPage's Vee Jay Zela 6-3, 6-1 in the finals, thus earning him a second place medal. Also placing second was the doubles team of Shaper-Mike Bregenzer. The duo was ousted in the finals by DuPage.

"I'm really happy with the results. It makes me feel good that we get a chance to return to nationals and better our performances from last year," Laverty said.

CLC made an excellent showing a year ago, placing 17th out of 44 teams competing.

In recapping the season, Lake County finished 13-1-1 in dual matches, 7-0 in Skyway Conference play. The team won the conference tournament, repeating as league champions.

Individually, overall records obtained by Lancer players were: Schaper 15-5 at No. 1 singles; Bregenzer 15-2 at No. 2 singles; Nordby 15-2 at No. 3 singles; Bob Bramhall 10-7 at No. 4 singles; Kendra 12-2 at No. 5 singles; Sitz 5-5 at No. 6 singles and Shawn O'Neill 6-2 at No. 7 singles. In doubles, Schaper-Bregenzer compiled a 15-4 record while Nordby-Bramhall 10-5 at No. 2 doubles and Kendra-Sitz 13-4 at No. 3 doubles.

"We had a very respectable season. I was especially pleased that everyone scored points in the region tourney by winning their first round matches," Laverty said.

CLC SPORTS NOTEBOOK

By John Phelps

The Lancer baseball team will not be going to nationals, but head coach Gene Hanson and his troops can be really satisfied with their 34-12 overall record.

Lake County, which finished second in the Skyway with a mark of 9-5, was defeated in the sectionals by Oakton 8-4.

In the double elimination tourney, CLC opened by beating Elgin 9-3. They then lost to Oakton 11-3 and beat Elgin again, 5-2. With two teams remaining, the Raiders ended the Lancers' season.

In the loss, Mike Foote and Norm Niemo both had two hits and Ray Salinas singled in a run. "We had the chances, but we could not get the key hits," Hanson said after the game.

"Overall it was a good season. I had speculated from the start that our defense would be our weakness, and that is what ultimately did us in," Hanson said.

Salinas led CLC hitters with a .492 batting average with 13 home runs and 63 runs-batted-in. Herard Giustino had a .442 average with six homers and 49 rbis. Jerry Brown hit .417 with 42 rbi and Niemo batted .410 with 40 rbis.

Ron Landin led the pitching staff with a 7-1 record and an earned run average of 1.83; Salinas was 7-1 and 2.80; Brad Frecking ended 5-2 with a 3.64 ERA. Vince Gawerecki led Lancer pitchers for the second year in a row in strikeouts with 59. Gawerecki finished 4-2 on the year.

Finally, the Lady Lancer softball team concluded the season with an unblemished 12-0 mark in conference play. Leading CLC (21-13 overall) individually this season was DeAnn Poulsen with a .378 batting average.

Poulsen also had a .500 slugging percentage. Kelly Hanson was second with an average of .324.

Jill Tegtmeyer compiled a 12-2 record on the mound. Highlights of her season included a 5-0 conference record, 138 strikeouts and an ERA of 2.06. She also threw two no-hitters in a week's time.

"I was pleased with our season. We accomplished what we set out for at the outset, and that was to win the conference and better our record from last year (13-24)," head coach Sue Garcia said.

Grant Among Favorites At Regional

For most Lakeland area baseball teams, the start of the "second season" will mean first round games in the Antioch regional May 26.

And before seedings were named, it was clear which teams would probably get the coveted first-round byes:

Grant, Waukegan East and West and Libertyville.

However, before the "big four" count their place in the regional finals, they need to get past the "little eight".

Seeking to be an upset regional finalist will be area teams host Sequoias, Carmel, Warren, Round Lake, Grayslake and Mundelein.

A sampling of what area

coaches have to say about the tourney:

"There are some teams in the "other eight" that can play," Carmel coach Joe Pudlo said.

State Invites All To Free Fishing Holiday

"I haven't been fishing for ages and now the kids are buggin' for some fishing...I hate to buy a license and all that."

This may sound familiar to dads, moms and uncles, as their families grow older. Illinois has an answer coming up. The Dept. of Conservation is having a four-day, free fishing weekend, starting Friday, June 5 and extending through Monday the 8th.

Not only is this a personal solution, but recreation and park departments, clubs and organizations can be helpful in planning related outings for their constituents during this four-day occasion. Non-fishing adults may be involved for the first time. A simple fishing pole, hook, line, bobber and earthworms are not big budget items...even discount rod and reel combos are available for as little as a ticket to the movies.

Related angler activities are being scheduled throughout the state. Locations may be learned by a call to the Chicago Conservation Office, (312)917-2070. They will also advise on assistance available to organizations wishing to participate.

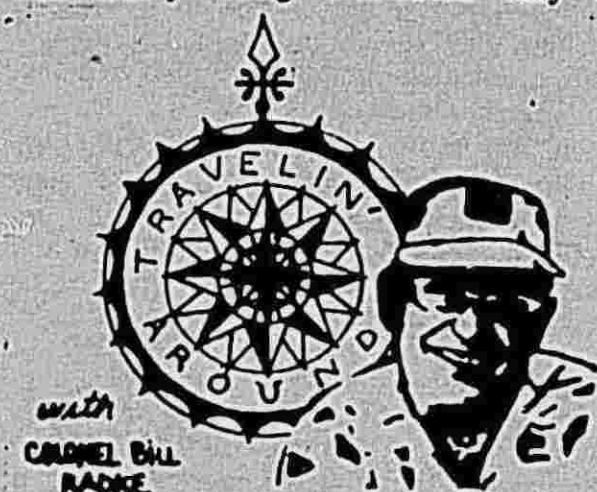

This is Illinois' third observation of Free Fishing Days. Remember, even without licenses, normal fishing regulations must be observed as to sizes, numbers and methods of catching.

"We are proud of improved fishing opportunities in Illinois," said Mark Frech, new conservation director, "and encourage Illinois out-of-state anglers, non-anglers and non-residents to give it a try during this occasion."

Not to be outdone, Michigan's second Free Fishing Days are June 6 and 7, a two-day observation for residents and non-residents. Additionally, they waive fees for camping in state forest campgrounds. State park entry fees for motor vehicles on Sunday, June 7, will be dropped as an open house opportunity. Wisconsin has a free fishing day on June 20.

Ducks Unlimited is a staunch supporter of waterfowl habitat and propagation of wildlife. This year is their 50th. The golden anniversary being celebrated may be measured in part by the funds they raise on behalf of outdoor enthusiasts.

These support waterfowl and wildlife, which go hand in hand, not to mention the related ecosystems. During 50 years, DU has raised $387 million and helped reserve more than four million wetland acres across America. Their golden dollar goal for 1987 is $66.4 million. But what of the man hours of some 600,000 members that contribute to this outdoor recreational resource physically, recreation-wise and with dollar support? It merges into uncountable numbers and helps everyone.

Raising money for the outdoors takes many directions. Among them, national parks will be supported by higher user fees this year, as outlined by Congress. The first increase in nearly 15 years will apply to about half the nation's parks.

Seasonal Festivals To Be 'The Berries'

Strawberry crops in Lake and Kenosha Counties are progressing nicely for the middle of May, perhaps a little ahead of the long-term average.

Checking with growers in Lake County, cooperative extension adviser Bob Schermbach finds strawberry plants in bloom with about 80 percent of the plants overwintering. These plants should produce ripe fruit in about three weeks or about the first week in June, just in time for all the area strawberry festivities.

U-pick strawberries will be available from Nielsen Berry Farm, (312)740-0011; Deep Lake Berry Farm, (312)395-0235; Wauconda Orchards, (312)526-8553; Betty's Market, (312)623-3567; and Thompson's Strawberry Farm, Hwy. 50, Bristol, (414)857-2351.

The Pioneer Senior Club in Richmond holds a strawberry festival in downtown Richmond, complete with the serving up of fresh strawberry ice cream sundaes. The president of the club did not know the date of the event this year.

A fifth annual strawberry festival will be held Friday, June 26 through Sunday, June 28, in the village of Long Grove. The merchants of Long Grove have picked a crop of "strawberry" items and planted them on the shelves of their shops to fete the strawberry season.

Visitors to Long Grove, at the intersection of Rtes. 53 and 83 in Lake County, where quaint shops are housed in landmark buildings, will be seeing lots of red during the weekend.

At Sunshine Supply Co., all red sunglasses are 25 percent off, and a free case comes with any purchase. Over at Pelican Bay, Ltd., the same sale price applies to all Canterbury of New Zealand yachting rugby shirts, used by the New Zealand contenders for the America's Cup races.

Shoestrings, a new store, fashions tiny infant socks into strawberries on a stem, at $4. Our Little Shoppe has lace potpourri jars filled with strawberry scent, and a shop called Potpourri offers strawberry simmering potpourri, to be put on the stove or in a ceramic hot pot. The latter store also has party goods with strawberry designs, and Strawberry Shortcake mylar balloons.

Real strawberry plants will be sold at Mangel's Florist, and Margaret Ann's will have not-so-real strawberry plants, wood and fabric strawberries, strawberry baskets and potpourri.

The strawberry festival features fresh strawberries and strawberry treats on the menus of Long Grove restaurants; free music and entertainment; appearances by Strawberry Shortcake and Garfield Goose; a Saturday antique show; and an antique auto display on Sunday.

Hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Friday and Saturday, and noon to 5 p.m. on Sunday. Phone (312)634-0888 for information.

Pitching Antique Autos

Chicago radio personality Eleanor Mondale will act as spokesperson for 'Chicagoland '87,' a premier car auction, auto show and swap meet at the Rosemont Horizon June 6-7. Designed as area's first 'family affair' auto auction, it will showcase 400 to 500 antique vehicles, amusement rides on the midway, music from the 50's and 60's, and door prizes and refreshments.

Set Teen Band Contest

Libertyville area teen bands will get a chance to be spotlighted at the third annual Teen Band Contest Saturday, June 20, sponsored by the Village Music Store.

The 3 p.m. event is part of the four day Libertyville Days celebration staged by the Libertyville Civic Center Foundation. Pat Malone is special events coordinator.

Entries for the competition must be submitted by June 1 to John Cavlier, manager, Village Music Store, 545 N. Milwaukee.

Cavlier said, "We are looking for teenage bands of various styles such as rock, country-western, acoustic, or jazz-fusion made up of non-professional teens who can put together a musical and entertaining group."

The Teen Garden, site of the contest, in the Libertyville Federal Savings and Loan parking lot will be open four days this year with concerts Thursday and Friday evenings June 18 and 19, the Teen Band Contest Saturday, and a Sunday afternoon concert of the two top prize winning bands June 21.

Jukebox Saturday Night, named as the "Ultimate Nostalgia Club" by Newsweek Magazine, has hit the charts again. Juke Box Saturday Night in Minneapolis was rated number one by Bartender Magazine in the spring issue.

Boasting a "Graffiti Wall" for the best of 1950s "signatures" as well as an outside King Kong mural, JukeBox/Minneapolis leads the innovative field in more than just "Old Time Rock 'n Roll."

JukeBox Minneapolis is part of a chain which includes JukeBox Saturday Night locations in Chicago, Fox Lake, Lisle, Oak Forest, Des Moines and soon to be San Francisco.

The chain is managed by Jim Rittenburg of J.R. Management, also the "eye in the sky" for Faces/Chicago and Ditka's Restaurant/City Lights Nightclub complex.

MEM Productions In 'Next Year' Rehearsal

MEM Productions has announced its summer schedule of plays, beginning June 5 and 6 at the Grand Hotel In Wauconda.

MEM Productions will open their season with "Same Time Next Year" by Bernard Slade.

Mickey Eckmann Mandel, director of the

Adler Fetes Larry Penn

Larry Penn, a retired truck driver who writes and sings songs for and about working people, will return to the David Adler Cultural Center for two shows on Saturday, May 23, at 7:30 and 9:30 p.m.

In the tradition of Woody Guthrie, Penn puts himself where his songs are. He has sung at protests and picket lines as well as at coffeehouses and on campuses.

Opening both shows will be Mark and Lynn Rische, who play bluegrass and old-time songs on mandolin and guitar.

Concert admission is $5 for adults, $4.50 for members, $2 for senior citizens and children, and free for children under six.

The David Adler Cultural Center, a non-profit organization, is located at 1700 N. Milwaukee Ave., Libertyville.

show, has cast Coleen Jordan, the Jean Norton award-winning actress from McHenry, as Doris in the show, while George is played by Harry Bartlett. Bartlett has been seen in many theatrical roles throughout Lake and McHenry Counties.

"Sometime Next Year" is the fresh and entertaining 25-year romance between these two exciting characters and the many trials that occur during their once-a-year meetings.

Mandel has directed shows at PM&L Theatre in Antioch, Hawthorn Woods, Avon Players and last summer's "Festival in the Park" in Wauconda. She has also acted throughout Lake and McHenry Counties and for several years had a professional comedy act in the Chicago area.

Jordan's credits include a degree from Marquette University and appearances at the Woodstock Opera House. Most recently she starred as Mrs. Manningham in PM&L's "Angel Street."

Bartlett has also been seen at the Woodstock Opera House as well as Waukegan and Antioch.

The show will run for five weekends, with a short hiatus for the Fourth of July weekend. Reservations are suggested, and can be made by calling (312) 526-5582.

The second play will be the madcap Neil Simon comedy, "The Odd Couple," starting in July and also running for five weeks.

Set Chinese Acrobats For Great America

The Chinese Acrobats, one of the most popular attractions at Six Flags Great America last summer, are back this season for an exclusive Chicago area engagement with an even bigger and better show. The troupe will perform four shows a day in the Grand Music Hall from June 6 through Aug. 14.

Dancer Schedules Sign-Up

Dancer North in Libertyville is now accepting registration for its summer session, which will run June 15 through July 30.

Special summer classes include a musical theatre performance workshop, fun with dance for children, and music and movement for three-year-olds.

Regular classes in classical ballet, modern jazz, tap, musical theatre, exercise and performing practice will meet daily Monday through Thursday.

Dancer North has grown from a staff of one to a staff of 15 over the past 13 years. Students have gone on to careers in ballet, modeling, commercials and television, according to studio director Cheri Lindell.

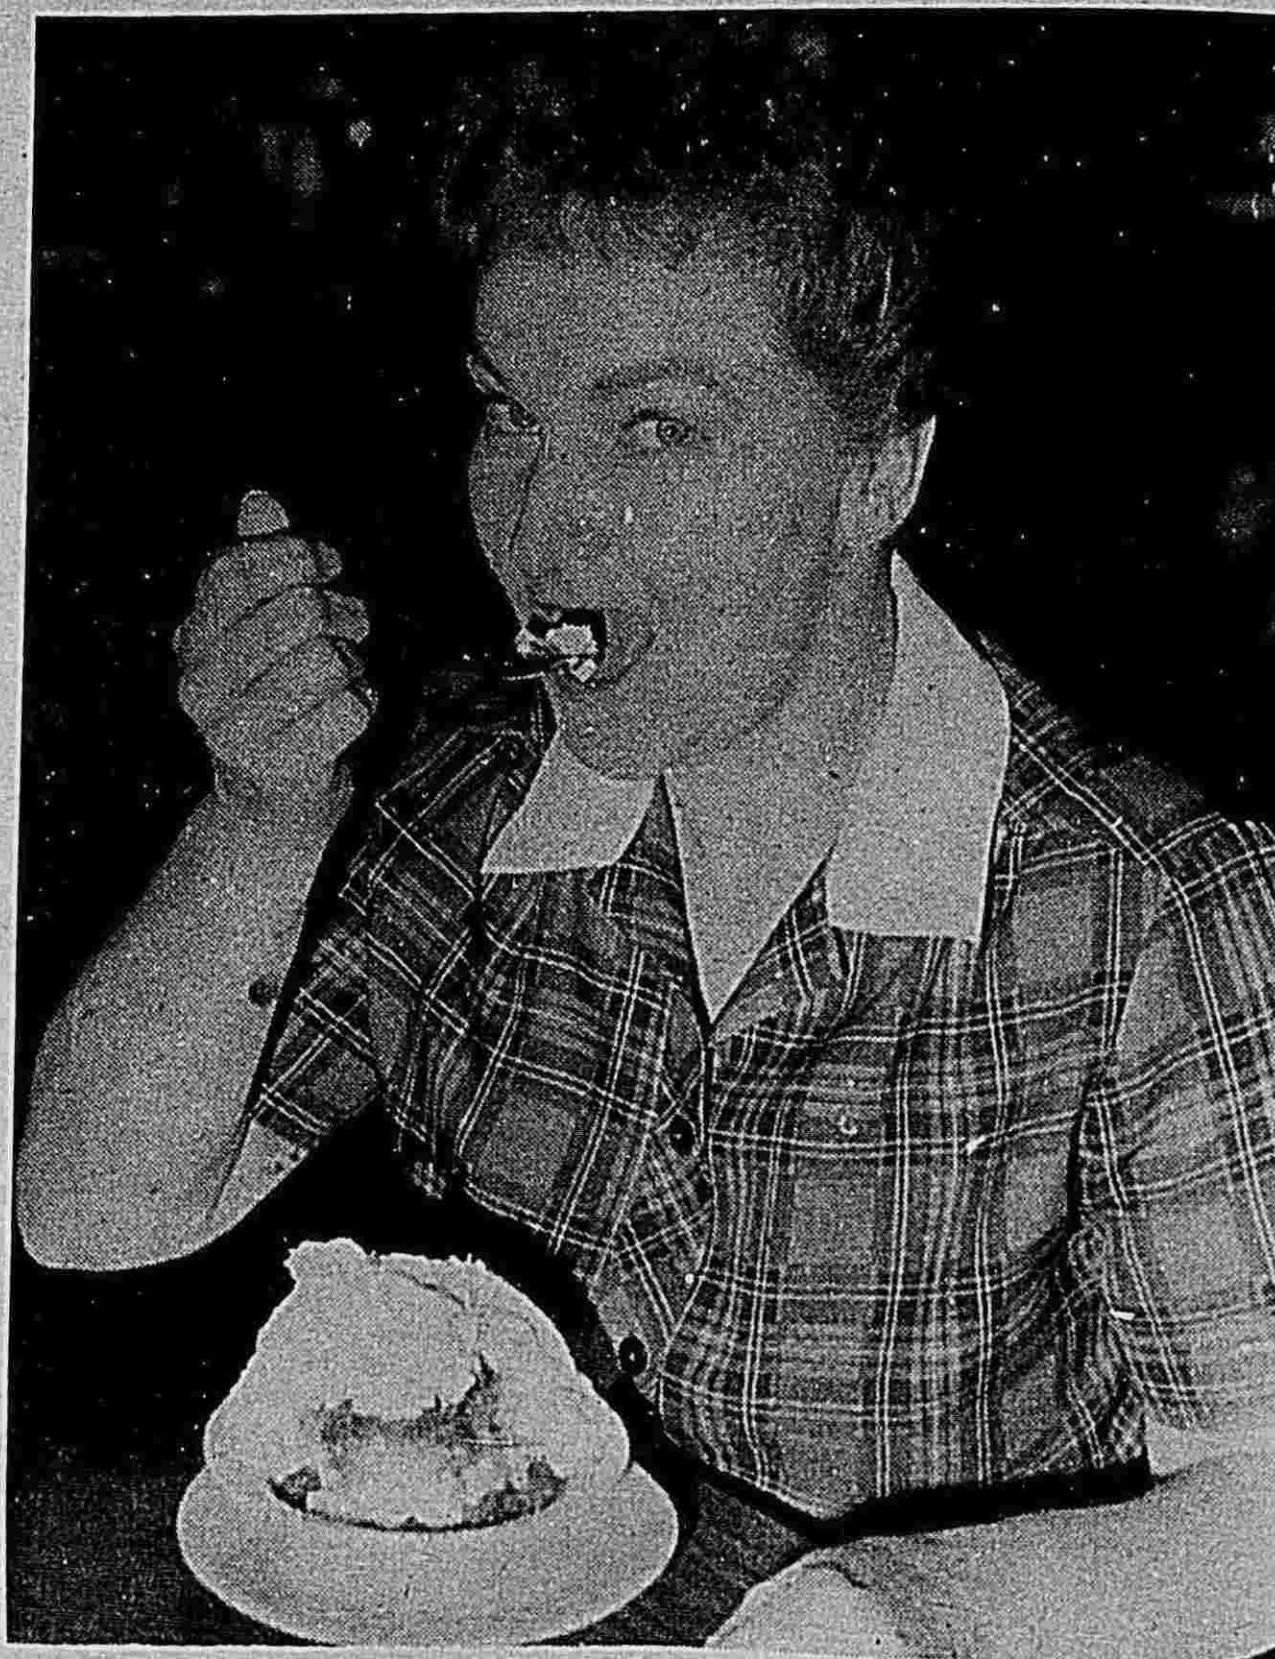

While the grace and precision of the acrobats will be immediately apparent to the audience, the dedicated training and discipline to learn the art may be taken for granted.

Formal lessons begin at the age of four, when the children attend a school for the arts in Taipei. Here, they spend four hours a day learning dance, Chinese opera, and acrobatics.

By the time the students are 14 or 15, this ancient art of acrobatics has become second nature. In fact, the art of Chinese acrobatics is more than a series of stunts. These disciplined individuals demonstrate the achievement of perfect harmony between mind and body.

Some of these feats seem to defy the physical laws of nature. One of the most incredible highlights of the show is the Tower of Chairs. Four empty champagne bottles are placed on a table, then the acrobat proceeds to balance a series of chairs on the bottle necks until he is almost out of sight. At that point, he does the seemingly impossible—a one-handed vertical handstand.

Find out why the National Assn. for Campus Activities honored the group with their 1986 Campus Entertainment Award for Best Attraction in Major Performances.

Players Open 'Sam'

The Kirk Players close their 21st season on Friday and Saturday, May 22 and 23, with Woody Allen's romantic comedy-fantasy, "Play It Again, Sam". The production, which is a benefit for the Friends of Fremont Library, will be presented at Mundelein High School at 8 p.m.

The homely hero (Thom Koch, Jr.) has this thing about Humphrey Bogart. If he only had some of Bogart's technique! Homely heroes being in short supply, Bogey (Floyd Baker) comes to the rescue with a fantastic bevy of beauties: Sharon, the photographer's assistant (Kathy Russ); Gina, the strict Catholic (Lisa Wilson); Vanessa, the playgirl (Phyllis Carter); a Go-Go girl (Paula Willems); an intellectual (Janie Ann Slade) and Barbara from upstairs (Maureen Cook Slade).

Tickets for the May 22 and 23 production are $4 for adults, $2 for students, and $1 for senior citizens and children under 12. Tickets are available from The Kirk Players, Fremont Public Library and at the door on show nights. For additional information call (312) 566-6594.

Young Ambassadors Coming To Genesee

The warm exuberance and polished talent characteristic of Brigham Young University's Young Ambassadors make the troupe popular at performances across the nation and around the world.

The company will present a spirited song and dance revue to Waukegan at 7:30 p.m. on Friday and Saturday, June 1 and 2, at the Genesee Theatre.

Directed by vocal coach Randy Boothe, music director Ron Simpson and choreographer Mark Huffman, the Young Ambassadors perform a dazzling variety of numbers.

Their program includes the romance of Broadway show tunes, favorite hits from decades past, cleverly staged comic medleys, a spunky western hoe-down, and many other numbers bursting with warm life.

This year's show features a medley of songs from the musical "Big River," as well as a '50s section with numbers such as "Blue Suede Shoes" and the theme to "Happy Days."

Sharing a contagious zest for life, the Young Ambassadors delight audiences wherever they appear. Distinguished members of the past audiences include President Ronald Reagan, Prime Minister Indira Gandhi, Mother Teresa and Queen Sirikit of Thailand.

The company toured the Orient in 1986 and every show was a sell-out, including eight unscheduled performances. They have traveled internationally for the past 14 years, to more than 35 countries in Europe, Asia, South and Central America, and the Middle East.

Tour plans for 1987 include the southwestern U.S., Canada and the northeastern states.

Genealogists To Meet

The Lake County Genealogical Society will hold its final meeting of the 1986-87 season at 10 a.m. on Thursday, May 28, at Cook Memorial Library, 413 N. Milwaukee Ave., Libertyville.

JukeBox To Feature Four Guys Singing

The first and only "National Do-Wopp Month" has been proclaimed to be June of 1987 by JukeBox Saturday Night of Chicago, Fox Lake, Oak Forest and Lisle.

The clubs, all forerunners in the nostalgia theme, are proud to welcome the rising sensation on the Do-Wopp circuit, Four Guys Standing Around Singing.

"You can't stop a capella rock" is evident in the latest McDonald's commercial featuring the Four Guys.

The "Guys" will appear at JukeBox Lincoln Ave. to kick off this month of appreciation on Tuesday, June 9, at 7 p.m. The following week, June 16, will see them at JukeBox in Fox Lake. They'll be in Oak Forest on June 23 and Lisle on June 30.

For information on tickets, call Jackie at (312) 280-7660 or any of the JukeBox locations.

Floral Club Plans Sale

The Men's Garden Club of Waukegan will sponsor its annual spring plant sale at the Waukegan Shopping Plaza professional court at Glen Flora and Lewis Aves. May 23.

The annual plant sale will start at 7 a.m. and continue until plants are sold out or 5 p.m. If conditions warrant, the sale may continue on May 24.

Many of the floral offerings will be in full floral and vegetable seedlings of tomato, peeper, cabbage, cauliflower and others will be available for area gardens. Floral offerings will include such items as geraniums, petunias, begonias, impatiens, some perennials and others.

Club president Joe Zegar and sales chairman Anton Zegar said the sale is open to the public.

Artists To Exhibit

Members of the Artists, Residents, Chicago (ARC), a community-oriented feminist gallery in Chicago, will exhibit their work at the Community Gallery of Art at the College of Lake County from May 29 through July 5.

Since 1973, ARC has provided women artists with a support group and gallery affiliation free of commercial pressure.

For gallery hours, call (312) 223-6601, ext. 300. Admission is free and the exhibit is open to the public.

ROCK TRACKS

Atlantic Records and Critique Records have jointly announced the signing of an agreement whereby Atlantic will manufacture and distribute Critique releases in the U.S., via the company's Atco division.

The first Boston-based label to enter into a distribution agreement with a major record company, Critique Records, Inc., was founded in 1983 by Carl Strube, its current president. The label has attracted worldwide attention with releases from such artists as the Dutch Trio Mai Tai, Kim Fields, Oliver Cheatham of SOS and Laban of Love in Siberia.

The initial Critique release through the new deal with Atlantic/Atco is a cover version of Led Zeppelin's "Black Dog" by Boston's "New City Rockers," which is currently bulleting up the pop charts. An album from the band is due to follow in the near future. Among Critique's upcoming releases is a single by Gary Numan entitled "Radio Heart."

All you heavy metal fans must already know about the new Ozzy Osbourne LP entitled "Tribute," which was recently released. The album was so named because it is dedicated to Randy Rhoads — Ozzy's guitarist before he died in a plane crash. They play most of their greatest hits, and Randy gets a lot of time to show off his flashing fingers.

"Randy's mother has gotten literally thousands of letters over the years asking for these tapes," says Osbourne. "I took my time on these tapes because we wanted to get it right. And complete. I have no more, not even from the studio. This is it."

Ozzy is planning on cutting down his touring a bit. When asked about it, he explained, "I'll keep working as long as people want me, because if I stop working, I'll get fat. I don't want to end up looking like David Crosby. And I have had a problem with alcohol. I still have it. But whereas a guy like Keith Moon lived the life of his character, I can't. My family is too important to me. I have a daughter who loves Bon Jovi."

I wonder if she calls him Ozzy?

Fleetwood Mac has just released "Tango In The Night," their first LP in five years. Many think this will be as successful as "Rumors." The latter has sold over 20 million copies, and if it weren't for Michael Jackson's "Thriller" album, it would have been the best selling release in American history. We'll see. ©1987, McNaught Synd.

Rehearsing 'Sam'

'He's a writer, but he's really nice,' is line from 'Play It Again Sam,' being rehearsed by Kirk Players, Thom Koch, Jr., left, Jerilyn Kjellberg and Bob Thomas.

Slate Unique Video

Technology and innovation combine intriguingly with live aquatic animals for the Shedd Aquarium's summer exhibit. Opening June 1, "Don't Blink Now" presents animals in clear display tanks against a backdrop of video monitors.

Taped footage enables visitors to view animal behaviors that ordinarily happen either too quickly, too slowly or too infrequently to be observed.

The juxtaposition of video and display allows visitors the opportunity to compare the living animal and its behavior with those that appear on screen. This progressive use of media is also designed to encourage visitors to make their own scientific observations about the animals they see in "Don't Blink Now."

Captivating video stations individually highlight seven unique animal behaviors. Among the strange and wonderful sights to be seen: a male sea horse gives birth to hundreds of young, a hermit crab changes shells, an octopus unscrews jar, and a tiny harlequin shrimp eats a much larger sea star.

Originally created by the New England Aquarium, Boston, Mass., with support from Shawmut and the Massachusetts Council on fine arts, "Don't Blink Now" is one of the first exhibits of its kind. It not only teaches aquarium visitors about the animals they see, but it also imparts a greater appreciation of the hours of careful observation which are essential to good research.

According to Dr. Kaufman, Curator of Education at the New England Aquarium, "Today's children suffer from big gaps in their knowledge of all sciences. It is important for aquaria and science museums to help fill these gaps, and provide the next generation with the tools and initiative to solve tomorrow's problems." In addressing this problem, the aquarium's new exhibit contributes significantly not only to exhibition design, but also to the field of science education.

"Don't Blink Now" opens June 1, and will be on display at the Shedd Aquarium through Aug. 31.

Waukegan Players Rehearse 'Yankees'

The story is full of twists and turns and beautiful tunes, "You Gotta Have Heart", "Whatever Lola Wants, Lola Gets" and "Two Lost Souls."

Waukegan Community Players is again offering a dinner-theater package with Madison Ave. Restaurant. A choice of three entrees, fine wines available, fine show and all at a great price, dinners at $12.50, a ticket for the show is $6 for adults, $5 for seniors, students, and military.

Set Dairyland Salute At Lake Geneva Resort

June is Wisconsin Dairy Month, and The Abbey on Lake Geneva will kick off the observance with its sixth annual "Abbeyfest," May 30-31. Festivities from 7:30 to 4:30 will take place in front of the Abbey Harbor, Fontana, Wis.

"Abbeyfest" day begins with a Farmers Country Breakfast served outside on The Abbey Terrace from 7:30 to 10:30 both Saturday, May 30 and Sunday, May 31. Come watch eggs and pancakes, with all the trimmings, being prepared on the unique giant fry pan and griddle.

An Arts and Crafts Fair will be held Saturday and Sunday along with the popular Abbey Cookout both afternoons. There is no admission charge and food items are family priced.

Saturday is the special day for fun and celebration when the 1987 June Dairy Month Kick-Off Program begins at 10:30 am with Orion Samuelson as master of ceremonies. This program is sponsored by the Wisconsin Milk Marketing Board and Walworth County Dairy Farmers. Samuelson's popular WGN Farm Show will be broadcast live from The Abbey at noon.

Entertainment will continue throughout the day with games and prizes for the children, a petting zoo, and other special surprises. Popular Gage Marine Boat Tours on Lake Geneva will be available at half their

Rick Saucedo To Do Benefit Show

Rick "Elvis" Saucedo, with Johnny Star and the Meteors, will do a benefit show for the Polio Network of Illinois on Friday, May 29, at The Landings in Libertyville. Doors will open at 6:30 p.m.; a cheese and wine tasting reception will be held from 7 to 8 p.m., and the show starts at 8:15 p.m. Tickets are $10 in advance and are available at the Libertyville National Bank, 200 N. Milwaukee Ave., (312)362-3000; or the Easter Seal Society, 1125 N. Milwaukee Ave., Libertyville, (312)367-1750. Tickets will be $12 at the door.

To Present Style Show Push For Members

The Forever Young Seniors will meet at noon May 21 at the Lindenhurst Civic Center.

Attendees should bring their own sandwiches, and the club will provide the relishes, cake and coffee.

After the business meeting, Joe Yarc will entertain with his singing and a sing-a-long.

The club will hold a style show from The Carousel Dress Shop in Antioch for June. For more information, call Vi at 356-3179.

In Dance Troupe

Philip Fabry, son of Philip Fabry and Janet Fabry of Lindenhurst, is a member of the Performing Dance Ensemble at Millikin University in Decatur. Dairy queens, adorned in their promotional attire, along with "Alice in Dairyland," will greet visitors and answer questions.

A Classic Boat Flotilla will assemble in the Abbey Harbor. Approximately 20 classic boats will be available for viewing at 10:00. Also, the Fontana Rescue Squad will entertain and inform guests with their display and demonstration all afternoon.

The favorite event of the "Abbeyfest" celebration is always the Ice Cream Social. This year delicious homemade ice cream is being introduced and will be available at an old-fashioned price of 25 cents per cone. Ice cream will be served from 11:00 am to 4:30 pm.

Wisconsin Cheese is also highlighted in this salute to the dairy industry. Samples will be served throughout the day by the Dairy Maids, a cheese bar will feature cheese dishes, and those wishing to purchase cheese to take home may make selections, at cost, at the Cheese Barn on the terrace lawn.

The Abbey Resort on Lake Geneva has established a fine tradition through the years for superb menus including Wisconsin dairy products. In addition to their regular menu, during June Dairy Month, The Abbey will feature special dairy product desserts, beverages, and a cheese bar in the Monaco Dining Room.

Members of the June Dairy Month Committee from Walworth County and the Wisconsin Milk Marketing Board are enthusiastic about the events planned for "Abbeyfest." They, along with The Abbey staff, cordially invite all to "Discover Wisconsin's Dairy Best," and attend the celebration on May 30 and 31. The Abbey is located on Rte. 67 in Fontana.

To Present Honigberg

The last concert of the 1986-87 Waukegan Symphony Orchestra season will present Carol Honigberg as guest pianist at their spring concert Saturday, May 30 at 8 p.m. at the Genesee Theatre, 205 N. Genesee St., Waukegan.

Honigberg, who has played with many major symphony orchestras both in the United States and Europe, will play Grieg's "Piano Concerto in A Minor." Honigberg has performed with the Belgian Radio-Television Philharmonic Orchestra and Sjisje-Romandes l'Orchestre de Chambre de Lusanne.

Director Lynn Schornick has completed the program by selecting Samuel Barber's "Adagio for Strings," Peter Maxwell Davies' "Five Klee Pictures," and "Symphony No. 4 in A Major, opus 90, 'Italian,'" by Felix Mendelssohn.

Tickets will be available in advance or at the door.

Victor Ehrlich is ready to march down the aisle

By Wendy Wallace

NBC's critically acclaimed "St. Elsewhere" ends its fifth season this week with a bang. In the "Last Dance" episode, airing Wednesday, May 27, Dr. Westphall (Ed Flanders) leads a sit-in when St. Eligius Hospital is threatened with destruction and closure.

"Well, Victor and I are headed for the altar," she reveals. "We've proposed to each other, and we're headed in that direction. That's how we end up; having to deal with whether or not we really are going to do it."

When Savidge first appeared on the series in 1982, she was set for a two-episode appearance, but her stint was so impressive that the producers expanded the role and made Lucy a regular on the St. Eligius staff. And her character has blossomed this season, as a result of her romance with Ehrlich.

"I thought there was something a little unique about Lucy that nobody else had," she says. "There's a bit of fight in her. A lot of her popularity has to do with her relationship with Victor. With him, there's that friction, that spark. It's something you don't see in other relationships on television. And people are fascinated by it."

"There's a lot that still needs to be investigated in her relationship with him," she adds. "Marriage means death for a lot of relationships on TV, but I don't think that will happen to us."

"Just imagine if we marry," she continues. "Having a fight at home and also working together in the hospital. Marriage wouldn't mean the death of our relationship. It would help open up a lot of things."

Jennifer Savidge

The police arrest the demonstrators prior to the first swing of the wrecking ball, but unknown to those outside, Dr. Auschlander (Norman Lloyd) is trapped inside the collapsed building. The future of Dr. Auschlander and of the hospital itself will not be resolved until next season.

Facing her own dilemma is Jennifer Savidge, who has played Nurse Lucy Papandrea on the series since 1982. "For some time, people have asked, 'When is something going to happen between you and Victor Ehrlich (Ed Begley Jr.)?'" says Savidge. "You're always fighting with each other and seem

JANE Victor Ehrlich is ready to march down the aisle

By Wendy Wallace

NBC's critically acclaimed "St. Elsewhere" ends its fifth season this week with a bang. In the "Last Dance" episode, airing Wednesday, May 27, Dr. Westphall (Ed Flanders) leads a sit-in when St. Eligius Hospital is threatened with destruction and closure.

Jennifer Savidge

The police arrest the demonstrators prior to the first swing of the wrecking ball, but unknown to those outside, Dr. Auschlander (Norman Lloyd) is trapped inside the collapsed building. The future of Dr. Auschlander and of the hospital itself will not be resolved until next season.

Facing her own dilemma is Jennifer Savidge, who has played Nurse Lucy Papandrea on the series since 1982. "For some time, people have asked, 'When is something going to happen between you and Victor Ehrlich (Ed Begley Jr.)?'" says Savidge. "You're always fighting with each other and seem to enjoy it. I can see you both ending up in a romance."

"Well, Victor and I are headed for the altar," she reveals. "We've proposed to each other, and we're headed in that direction. That's how we end up; having to deal with whether or not we really are going to do it."

When Savidge first appeared on the series in 1982, she was set for a two-episode appearance, but her stint was so impressive that the producers expanded the role and made Lucy a regular on the St. Eligius staff. And her character has blossomed this season, as a result of her romance with Ehrlich.

"I thought there was something a little unique about Lucy that nobody else had," she says. "There's a bit of fight in her. A lot of her popularity has to do with her relationship with Victor. With him, there's that friction, that spark. It's something you don't see in other relationships on television. And people are fascinated by it. "There's a lot that still needs to be investigated in her relationship with him," she adds. "Marriage means death for a lot of relationships on TV, but I don't think that will happen to us."

"Just imagine if we marry," she continues. "Having a fight at home and also working together in the hospital. Marriage wouldn't mean the death of our relationship. It would help open up a lot of things."

IN A NOSTALGIA

By Paul Elie

He is the good guy of good guys, the quintessential hero in a white hat. With his trademark costume (black mask), faithful companion (Tonto) and unfailing cry ("Hi-yo, Silver!"), the Lone Ranger is a mythical character, a frontier archetype of sorts.

Yet that myth is actually a modern invention. The brainchild of scriptwriters George W. Trendle and Fran Striker, "The Lone Ranger" first aired on radio in 1933. In 1950, the series moved to the fledgling medium of television, where it aired for eight seasons, garnering ratings and grudging respect for ABC in a field that was dominated by NBC and CBS.

The Lone Ranger story is familiar to almost all of us. While trailing a band of desperados, six Texas Rangers were lured into a canyon and ambushed. Five were killed outright, and the sixth, young John Reid, was taken for dead. But Reid was very much alive, and under the care of the Indian scout Tonto, he soon returned to health. Reid donned his mask and his new nickname, and set out to avenge the deaths of his companions. Thereafter he and Tonto roamed about the Texas prairie, seeking to uphold good and vanquish evil, especially in the person of outlaw Butch Cavendish.

Tonto, who introduced the phrase "kemo sabe" ("trusty scout") to American teenage slang, was played by Jay Silverheels. The Lone Ranger himself was portrayed most memorably by Clayton Moore, who also played the masked man in two theatrical releases, "The Lone Ranger" (1956) and "The Lone Ranger and the Lost City of Gold" (1958). But in 1952 and 1953, and in a guest appearance on "Happy Days" in 1976, another actor played the role.

Question: Who was the actor?

Answer: John Hart

Paul Simon and friends deliver powerful concert

By Marianne Meyer

A little less than a year ago, a nervous Paul Simon faced a crowd of reporters and talked about a new album he'd recorded with South African musicians. When asked if he might tour with any of those musicians to support the record, he replied that such a complex, expensive tour would depend on the record's commercial success.

Paul Simon

Well, the amazing "Graceland" has gone on to be one of the most influential and commercially successful records of the past year. And yes, Simon is on the road now with his African cohorts, re-creating that superb sound live. For those who seek the next best thing to being there, Showtime presents "Paul Simon's Graceland: The African Concert" twice on Sunday, May 24, and twice on Friday, May 29. It's a powerful show - and not only because of the great "Graceland" music.

This particular concert was taped at Rufaro Stadium in Zimbabwe's capital, Harare, and features self-imposed South African exiles Hugh Masekela (trumpet) and Miriam Makeba (vocals), who each get a solo spot in the show. Simon also shares the stage with Ladysmith Black Mambazo, the incredible 13 member cappella vocal group that nearly steals the show with soaring harmonies and infectious rhythms. The concert sound is strong and clear, and film maker Michael Lindsay-Hogg directs in an unobtrusive style that gently blends breathtaking African landscapes with the stage performances. But like the album, and like Simon's own search for the musical universals that cross national/cultural boundaries, the concert takes on a meaning above and beyond the joyful sound of the songs. Though not an overly political show (a closing performance of an African anthem aside), "Graceland: The African Concert" confronts the absurdity of apartheid dead on. In images of the crowds onstage (over two dozen musicians) and off (20,000 fans) one sees an enthusiastic, integrated group of African natives and visitors who share a love of music and freedom. Like the music, that spirit is contagious, and one hopes it, too, will ultimately triumph.

By Toni Reinhold

Whatever happened to "Scarecrow and Mrs. King"? - D.S.T., Rosedale, N.Y.

Kate Jackson's surgery forced the show into a premature hiatus. New episodes have been airing this month with more emphasis on Martha Smith and less on Jackson.

Kate Jackson

Who hosted "Real People" and "That's Incredible"? - W.G., Malone, N.Y.

"Real People" (1979-84) had as its regulars: Fred Willard (1979, 1981-83); Sarah Purcell; John Barbour (1979-82); Mark Russell, Skip Stephenson, Bill Rafferty, Byron Allen, Kerry Millerick (1982-83) and Peter Billingsley (1982-84). "That's Incredible!" (1980-84) was hosted by John Davidson, Cathy Lee Crosby and Fran Tarkenton.

When did the first "Dr. Who" movie come out? - T.H., Hagerstown, Md.

"Dr. Who and the Daleks" was a 1965 British film starring Peter Cushing, Roy Castle and Jennie Linden. It was inspired by the popular British TV series. In this film, the doctor and his friends were transported to a world of robot-like creatures, called "Daleks," who were hostile towards humans. The sequel came out in 1966 and featured Peter Cushing and Bernard Cribbins. It was originally titled "Daleks - Invasion Earth, 2150 A.D." and later retitled "Invasion Earth 2150 A.D."

Check Amenities And Hidden Costs Before Signing Lease

The "hidden" costs of renting an apartment, such as heat and air conditioning, can add substantially to a renter's monthly expenditures and need to be tallied before signing a lease, according to Lois Hirschfield, director of leasing for the 1,075-unit McClurg Court Center in Chicago.

"Heating an 800-square foot apartment runs approximately $100 a month. If the apartment rents for $600, heat alone adds 17 percent to the monthly total," she points out.

Another important consideration in selecting an apartment is the rental and management staffs, she says. "Do they make you feel comfortable? Do they answer your questions directly? It's important for prospective renters to feel good about these staff members because that's who they will be dealing with once they move in."

Hirschfield suggests prospective renters pay attention to first impressions, starting with the cleanliness and condition of the lobby, hallways and other public areas of a building. "You can tell a lot about the building's care and maintenance just by walking in the door," she says, "but renters should also ask if the building has round-the-clock maintenance which can be crucial in an emergency."

Once inside the apartment, prospective renters should check to make sure appliances are in working order—another tip-off to good building maintenance.

Prospective renters should also weigh the amenities that are offered. A health-fitness club, aerobic classes, sundeck, indoor swimming pool, weight room, racquetball and handball courts, basketball facilities, steam rooms, sauna and even a landscaped garden are not unusual at some rentals.

"Recreation is a way of life today, and most apartment renters are looking for a wide range of activities right in their building," says Hirschfield. "They are also looking for a good location which offers a lot of on-site and nearby conveniences that may include drug stores, movie theatres, banks, restaurants, even dry cleaners."

"Parking is a necessity for many renters, so they should find out if the building garage is enclosed or open to the elements—and also be aware that an enclosed garage is not always heated."

Security, a top priority

Immunizations

with many apartment dwellers, is often taken for granted, says the leasing agent, "but renters should ask to make sure the building offers 24-hour security and doorman. It is extremely reassuring to know that someone is watching who comes and goes, that your front door is secure."

Finally, today's renter is more of an individualist than ever, demanding choice and selection so Hirschfield suggests looking for a building offering variety in its units with lots of closet space and plenty of electrical outlets and phone jacks.

"Look before you lease," she says.

The Market Is Healthy For Chicago-Area Home Sellers

There is good news for home sellers in the Chicago market, as shown in the RELO Inter-City Relocation Service report of national housing prices for the first quarter of this year. According to Thomas E. Koenig, president and CEO of Glenview-based Koenig &

Strey, Inc., realtors and board member of RELO, Chicago metropolitan area home prices in the first quarter of this year increased 11.3 percent over the same period in 1986. This puts Chicago among the top 25 most expensive single family home markets. At $122,000, the cost of a Chicago home is slightly above the national average of $117,000.

Koenig also cites other statistics for the Chicago home market:

--Homes are selling faster. It took 12 days less to sell a home in Chicago in 1987 than in 1986, putting Chicago among the most improved selling markets in the country, faster than Dallas/Fort Worth, Denver and Pittsburgh. The national average improved, with Chicago about at that average. This puts Chicago in the enviable position of being one of the most in-demand areas in the country, with a ready market of homebuyers.

This is good news for the individual putting his home on the market and good impetus for the homeowner contemplating putting his home on the market. This appears to be a good time to make the move toward selling one's home in the Chicago area.

--The average price of homes rose $12,900.

This was above the national average of $7,100 but considerably below the most expensive home market, New York, which rose $37,900. Other fast-appreciating markets are in the northeast, followed by Los Angeles, Boston, Santa Clara-San Jose. The Chicago metropolitan area has the advantage of being a popular housing market while still being close to the national average in single family housing prices. The least expensive homes are in Decatur ($46,100) and Scranton ($48,500).

--The single-family housing market continues to be strong.

The national market continues to show vitality, and that as long as the national economy stays reasonably healthy and interest rates remain relatively stable, private home sales and residential real estate values will both continue on an upward course nationwide.

A Prospective Investor's Guide To Mutual Funds

Open-end or closed-end? Front-end load, back-end load or no-load? Aggressive growth or growth plus income?

To the uninitiated, the world of mutual funds may, at first, seem mind-boggling. But the concept is actually quite easy to understand, according to the Illinois CPA Society.

Put simply, a mutual fund is a financial service that pools the money of individual investors, or shareholders as they are called, to purchase a specially selected group of investments. Fund managers invest the shareholders' money according to the objectives of the particular fund. Mutual funds are designed for both large and small investors, with many funds accepting minimum opening deposits of $500 or $1,000 or even less. And shares can be sold quickly, often by just making a phone call.

Buying shares in a mutual fund provides the chance to have a wider selection of investments than would normally be possible for a small investor. And this allows them to spread risk-one poor performer isn't going to drag down all the rest.

A mutual fund also has the advantage of the money being invested and managed by a team of professional managers who study the investment market every day.

The majority of people invest in open-end funds which create new shares for investors as money comes in. The price is set daily by the fund's net asset value per share—a fund's total assets after deducting liabilities, divided by the number of shares outstanding. Closed-end funds issue a fixed number of shares which are then traded either on an exchange or over the counter. The price of the shares may sell above or below the net asset value, based on supply and demand.

Mutual funds can be differentiated by the way they charge. All funds charge investors for brokerage commissions and daily management fees, usually in the form of an annual management fee collected from the fund's assets.

"Load funds" are sold through brokers who charge a "load"—or sales commission—when an order is placed. These up-front loads vary, but generally range between four to eight and one-half percent of the total price of the shares being purchased. "Low-load" funds refer to funds that charge an up-front fee of one to two percent.

Yet another type of load fund is the "contingent deferred" or "back-end load fund" which has no up-front load but, instead, charges a redemption fee. Back-end load funds charge a certain percentage if shares are redeemed within a certain period—similar to the "early withdrawal penalty" charged by banks for CDs that are redeemed prior to maturity.

"No-load" funds are marketed by the funds themselves. When a no-load fund is purchased, there is no sales charge. The management of no-load funds will provide information on the types of funds offered, but the investor will not have the personalized assistance of a broker, as is the case with load funds. It is up to the prospective investor to select a fund, write for a prospectus and contact the fund to place an order.

To be fully informed as to what load, brokerage and management fees are involved, it is essential to read the fund's prospectus and Statement of Additional Information.

How to Choose: At last count there were well over 1,600 funds to choose from. Most funds fit into basic broad categories distinguished by their investment objectives. Among the most common are Aggressive Growth Funds, Growth Funds, Income Funds, Growth Plus Income Funds, Balanced Funds, Bond Funds, International Funds, Money Market Funds and Specialty Funds.

Before selecting a fund, think about objectives and the degree of risk involved. If looking for capital growth, with no need for current income, perhaps a growth fund could meet needs. If an investor is very conservative, dependent on income, an income fund might be the best bet. An investor well-versed in a particular field or industry might be interested in a specialty fund, investing in their area of expertise.

Because individual investors may have several needs, and because the economic environment changes, most funds are part of diverse fund families. This means money can be moved from one fund to another with just a phone call, and sometimes at no charge.

Investors wishing to open a front-end or back-end load fund may want to turn to a broker. If wishing to open a no-load fund, they might consult the many mutual fund performance rating charts appearing in various publications such as Forbes and Money magazines. Don't be tempted to look for the fund with the highest annual performance. Instead, consider a fund that has performed respectably over the last five years or 10 years. In either case, read the prospectus carefully before investing.

What about tax reform? The new tax law, which eliminates the preferential treatment of capital gains, is likely to have an impact on investment strategies. Beginning in 1988, income derived from capital appreciation will be taxed the same as that from interest and dividends, eliminating one of the key tax advantages of growth funds. At the same time, lower tax rates give new luster to income-producing investments.

Beginning in 1987, investors will have to pay taxes on their share of the fund's management costs or advisory fees. In the past, these charges were deducted from earnings before the fund's results were reported to shareholders. Beginning in 1987, this figure will show up on the 1099 form, and must be reported as income. And since the new limits on the deductibility of investment expenses will apply to mutual fund shareholders, the amount can be offset with a deduction only if management fees and other itemized miscellaneous deductions add up to more than two percent of adjusted gross income.

Establish Credit Before The Need For It Arises

Need cash? Want to borrow some money?

A regular borrower with a few paid-up loans under the belt and a wallet full of credit cards is likely to have no trouble borrowing money.

But someone who never had the need to borrow money or buy on credit may be considered a poor credit risk.

Why?

Because the philosophy of many lenders can be characterized by a slight modification of a familiar saying, "Give credit where credit is..." It seems that those with credit can get more and those without must first prove themselves. A prudent policy, no doubt, but one that can make life difficult for first-time borrowers.

To avoid being faced with a problem when the needs for credit arises, the Illinois CPA Society advises establishing a credit rating in advance of need.

When someone applies for a loan or credit card, lenders turn to credit bureaus to check on their status as a borrower. Contrary to popular belief, it is not the credit bureau that decides how good or bad a credit risk anyone is. It simply collects information about the borrower and sells it to lenders, who then determine whether the person is credit worthy based on their own standards or credit scoring system.

A credit file generally contains basic identifying information like name, address, Social Security number, date of birth, employment history, etc. The credit bureau knows where loans are from and how timely the borrower is about repaying them. They keep track of any judgements filed against the person and whether any bills have been turned over to a collection agency.

To establish a credit rating, start small. Begin by opening a savings and checking account at the same financial institution. While this does not actually establish credit, it does develop a banking relationship. And later, the institution may be applied to for a credit card.

Normally, the easiest credit cards to get are those with a single purpose—perhaps a department store or a gasoline company. Apply to stores or companies often shopped at. If the application is approved, a credit limit will, as a rule, start off low—maybe just $500. But as credit worthiness is demonstrated, it's likely the store will increase the credit line.

Once the credit cards are received, be sure to use them. Just having been granted a credit card does nothing to establish a credit rating. The card must be used, and a pattern of timely repayment must be demonstrated. If using a credit card strictly to establish a credit rating and don't want to be faced with interest charges, be sure to pay the bill in full each month within the grace period allowed.

After a period of using and repaying on cards, the borrower is ready to apply for a national bank credit card, such as MasterCard or Visa. Chances for approval may be best at the financial institution where one opened their savings and checking account. Again, a low credit limit will probably be given initially, with increases as a reward for prompt payment. Bank credit cards carry more weight on a credit rating because they are more difficult to obtain than a store credit card.

There are those who advocate applying for a personal loan as another step toward establishing a credit rating. But if the money isn't really needed, this may be costly, since there is no grace period for interest charges. If taking out a loan for the sole purpose of establishing a credit rating, deposit the loan proceeds in an interest-bearing account. This way, the interest earned can help offset the interest that will be paid on the loan. Keep in mind that income tax will probably be charged on the interest income, and that the 1986 tax reform act phases out the deduction for interest paid.

Augment Financial Success With Services Of Planner

Susan and Brett both work full-time, are avid travelers and have three active children. A year ago, they received a sizable inheritance from Susan's father, but the entire sum has been left sitting in their checking account.

Dawn, a talented sculptor with an income approaching six figures, doesn't know the difference between a growth stock and a convertible bond and has no idea why everyone's been talking about tax reform.

What do these people have in common? It is very likely that each could benefit from the services of an experienced financial planner.

But Susan, Brett and Dawn, like many other people, are not sure what financial planning is all about and just how a financial planner can help them.

Put very simply, personal financial planning enables one to take financial control of their life.

Although the financial planning process has many components and involves many steps, it may be thought of in terms of three simple questions. Where do I (or we) stand now? Where do I want to go? and how am I going to get there? If the first question is thought of as Point A, and the second as Point B, the financial planning process is the way to get from Point A to Point B. In effect, it provides the answer to the third question.

While the actual planning process is unique for each individual, the elements are standard. The first step involves the gathering of all relevant financial data which provides the background for the process.

Next, the financial planner helps the individual to identify financial goals and objectives. This decision must be well thought out, because it provides the foundation upon which the plan is formulated. Does the individual need to plan for their children's college education? Are they concerned about retirement income?

After an analysis of financial data, attitudes toward money and goals and objectives, the financial planner is in a position to develop recommendations on how to accomplish financial goals.

Lastly, it is important to think of the personal financial plan as a process and not a product. The financial plan is an ongoing commitment—it doesn't have an end. And it should be reviewed on a regular basis. Any number of changes in life (births, marriage, illness) and in the economy (inflation rate, major tax code changes) could necessitate a change in the financial plan.

There are a number of factors to consider in selecting a financial planner. A financial planner should have a working knowledge of all areas of financial planning, from taxes to cash flow, investments to retirement planning.

Also, consider the payment arrangement. Financial planners charge for services in one of three ways: fee-only, commission-only and fee-plus-commission. Commission-only financial planners produce a plan free of charge but collect a sales commission on many of the products they recommend. With this method, one may never feel quite certain who the suggested recommendations are in the best interests of. On the other hand, fee-only planners such as CPAs, charge only for the service itself. They may be the most objective, since they charge a flat fee usually based on an hourly rate. A hybrid, the fee-plus-commission planner charges a set amount for the plan and a commission on the products the plan recommends.

Review the planner's track record, the number of years he or she has been in business as a financial planner, and the judgement of the person who recommended the planner. Selection of a financial planner should be based on the planner's objectivity, competence and experience in personal financial planning.

Dole Wins Standing Ovation From GOP

by CHARLES JOHNSTON
Managing Editor

"I'm not here for any self-serving purpose," quipped Senate Minority Leader Robert Dole (R-Kansas), "but I want to remind you that an election for President is going to be held in 1988."

The crowd of over 700 Republicans laughed at the Senator's jest. They were gathered for the annual Republican Federation Dinner at the Holiday Inn of Mundelein.

Dole peppered his speech with quick one-liners and witty rejoinders, but his message was a serious one. He said there are two tough issues which will have to be addressed by the next President.

"We (the Congress) had to raise the debt ceiling by $20 billion to pay the bills for the next 60 days," he said. "The national debt is now $2.3 trillion and will be around $2.7 trillion when President Reagan leaves office."

Dole noted that a debt of about $100,000 is being left to every young person in the country because of the climbing national debt. But, he added, he has the courage to deal with it and he cited an example to prove it.

"On May 10, 1985, when I was Senate Majority Leader, we passed a budget resolution that terminated 14 federal programs and froze COLA's (cost of living increases) for all federal entitlement programs," the senator said. "The measure passed 50-49. We got one Democratic vote. We rolled Pete Wilson in after he had had appendectomy surgery that morning. We are willing to make the hard choices."

Moving on to the second tough issue, Dole said, "We are the leader of the free world; it's a responsibility we have to take."

He said that in spite of the criticism of military spending, most of the expenditures are for personnel costs.

"I'd rather err on the side of spending a little too much than come up short if something really happens in the world," Dole said.

In an earlier press conference, Rob Sherman, the atheist who has challenged the Zion Corporate Seal, asked Dole why he supported spending so much on defense when there is so much poverty and other problems in this country.

"Why spend on defense?" Dole shot back. "Because we want a future. I don't know about you, but I want a future for this country."

A veteran who was wounded in World War II, Dole made no apologies for his support of a strong defense budget, nor did most of the crowd want him to. His keynote speech was interrupted by applause seven times and he received a standing ovation at the end.

Dole said he expects to formally announce his candidacy for the Presidency in the early fall and that he expects the race for the Republican nomination to be between him and Vice-President George Bush.

A Dole staffer, sporting his "Dole for President" button, said that Bush would not have the staying power to win.

"The question is leadership," the staffer said, "and Dole wins hands-down on that issue."

Dole certainly exhibited the politician's flair for being "on" when speaking before a crowd. He began his day on the floor of the Senate working on a defense authorization bill. When he came into the press conference, he was clearly fatigued, his face drawn and hesitant in responding to questions. But when he stood up before the assembled party faithful, he regaled them with stories of his early days and jokes about politics.

Congressman John Porter suggested that either Dole or his wife, Elizabeth, Secretary of Transportation, move to another state so there could be a Dole-Dole ticket.

Mishaps Take Lives In Auto Wrecks

A Chicago woman was found dead in a car in a farmer's field in Old Mill Creek.

Francine Hersh, 29, of Chicago, was found in a car May 13. The body was burned and it was not until later that Lake County Coroner's Office was able to give an identification.

"The vehicle was totally burned," Coroner Barbara Richardson said.

Willie Smith, chief of the Lake County Sheriff's Dept. investigative division, said it has not been determined whether the death was suicide or accidental death.

"We are not suspecting homicide at this time,"

Smith said.

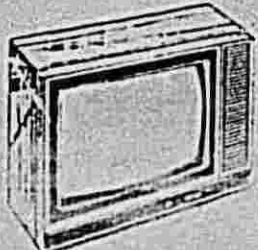

Smith said a bus driver first saw the woman enter the area May 11. On May 12, the bus driver saw the vehicle burning. The Sheriff's department was called to the scene by Tempel Smith Farm's security.

Richardson said the entire car had to be moved from the site before an identification could be made.

In another incident, Virginia Swanson, 73, of Wildwood was pronounced dead at Condell Memorial Hospital following an accident in Grayslake May 13.

The accident occurred on Center St. east of Atkinson Rd. in Grayslake.

Name Winans To Emergency Post

Deputy Chief Frank S. Winans, coordinator of the Lake County Sheriff's Office Emergency Services and Disaster Agency, has been elected president of the Illinois Emergency Service Management Assn. (IESMA) for 1987, Lake County Sheriff Robert H. Babcox announced.

Winans, a 20-year veteran of the Lake County Sheriff's Office, was sworn in on April 25 for a one-year term.

IESMA is the only statewide emergency management organization, and involves state, county and local emergency management directors and coordinators. Its primary function is to provide training and communication. "Deputy Chief Winans' election as president of IESMA is a credit to the Lake County Sheriff's Office and indicates a great degree of trust on the part of IESMA for electing Winans to that position," stated Babcox.

"Deputy Chief Winans is very dedicated to his job and this dedication proved itself during his successful coordination of state, county and local governments during the September, 1986 flood," Babcox said.

THIS WEEK'S

HOROSCOPE

BY SALOME

Weekly Tip: Add some sparkle and zip into your life.

Aries (Mar. 21-Apr. 19) You are being old-fashioned in your thinking and actions. Get some creative ideas from those who are enjoying a more modern way of living. Get out and be active.

Taurus (Apr. 20-May 20) Don't try to push a personal concern right now; let it slide for a while. A good friend can be a big help to you now if you'll allow it.

Gemini (May 21-June 20) If you're more efficient in your work, you'll be more appreciated. You've got a sparkling personality, so use it to your advantage.

Cancer (June 21-July 20) Be more spontaneous; it keeps others guessing and makes everything more exciting. You are inspired right now, so make the most of your ideas.

Leo (July 21-Aug. 22) If your mate is moody, blame it on the planets, and remember, this too shall pass. Show that you can be patient. Settle your financial affairs.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Take somebody out to lunch some time this week; you'll learn something new. Don't be critical of others or you may put your foot in your mouth!

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) Somebody close to you wants to bother you, but don't let it get you down. Now is a good time to get out and about and show what you're made of.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) Put your plans into action. If you sit on them too long, all your work will be for naught. Finish your work that's piling up so you can have more time for fun.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) You have an overwhelming sense of good will, so enjoy your friends and family to the fullest. Invite guests over, kick up your feet, and have a great time.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Put more effort into your property so that you can increase its value. You can improve the status of your bank account if you put those fine ideas of yours into action.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) Be gregarious and get out to see people. A long-time friend is soon to be of great help to you. Get your wardrobe in order.

Pisces (Feb. 19-Mar. 20) Don't be afraid to show your sense of humor. Find new avenues of expression that can increase your happiness.

If you were born this week you have a charmed life, as it were. Most people think of you as a good friend. You have the ability to be persuasive. Your life can be a great success if you can learn to control yourself.
